Lisbon Rd. Crossing Elimination Up To Commissioners

STATE AWAITING COUNTY'S ACTION COUNCIL LEARNS

Commissioners Must Send Elimination Request To Columbus

CALLS CROSSING
ADMITTEDLY BAD

Solons May Send Group of Officials To Lisbon
To Seek Action

The state highway department is willing to consider elimination of the Lisbon rd. crossing of the Pennsylvania lines, half a mile south of the city limits, if the county commissioners request such elimination.

This is the substance of a letter received by Clerk Frank E. Griffin of city council from J. R. Burkey, chief engineer of bridges of the state department, and read at council meeting Tuesday night.

Next steps toward such elimination are thus up to the commissioners. The state engineer's letter is an answer to a resolution recently passed by council, urging action by the county and state. So far the commissioners have not acknowledged receipt of a copy of the resolution.

It is probable that a committee of members of council, and probably other city officials as ex-officio members of the special committee, will be named to wait upon the commissioners and urge that they ask the state to place the elimination on the immediate program.

Deserves Elimination

Councilwoman Anna Stratton made a motion last night, which would have instructed President H. Gager to name this committee, but her motion failed through lack of a second.

Chief Engineer Burkey pointed out in the letter that the crossing is "admittedly a bad one" and is "deserving of elimination." He stated that he "understands the county is in financial straits at the present time" but that if the commissioners request action the state will consider immediate co-operation. The state, in this case, will pay 25 per cent of the cost, Burkey added.

In order that closer contact may be maintained on the matter, Burkey has placed a copy of his letter in the hands of L. A. Breen, division engineer, stationed at Ravenna. Breen often confers with county officials, and will be in a position to advise the commissioners.

The committee, if named, probably will attempt to ascertain just what money is available, or will become available for the elimination of the crossing. The commissioners will be asked to give consideration as soon as possible to a request to the state for action. When the state is formally advised, then the crossing will be placed on the active elimination program.

Through former Rep. Ralph W. Emmons, now state civil service commissioner, and author of the law setting aside one million dollars annually from the gas tax for the payment of the state's share of grade eliminations in Ohio, the Lisbon rd crossing was placed on the tentative state program.

Emmons then recommended that council, by resolution, ask the county and state to take definite action. This was done, after Atty. K. L. Coburn, as an interested citizen, appeared before council to urge such resolution.

The next steps, it appears, are up to the commissioners. Placing of the crossing on the state's program depends on the request the commissioners make to the state department.

Passenger Injured As Autos Collide On Depot St. Today

D. L. Davis, 299 Lincoln ave., was slightly injured in an automobile collision at the Mill-Depot st. intersection at 9:30 a. m., today.

Davis was riding in the auto driven by Vir Balan, Depot rd., when it collided with the car driven by Willis Whinnery of North Georgetown. The Balan car was completely wrecked.

Several cars parked in prohibited zones at the intersection obstructed the view of the two drivers, and caused the collision police say.

Wilbur Lippert, 92 Broadway, was fined $1 and costs by Mayor Hiddleston for parking in a prohibited zone during the accident at the Mill-Depot st. intersection.

DISPOSAL PLANT MAINTENANCE IS BEFORE COUNCIL

State Health Department
Warns Plan Must Be Adopted Soon

CALLS MEETING OF SOLONS TONIGHT

Committee-of-Whole Will Adopt Some Type Of Sewage Rental

City council, taking heed of recommendations of the state department of health that a financial program for the maintenance of the new sewage disposal plant be enacted without delay, will meet as a committee of the whole tonight, at the request of Chairman Frank L. Rollins of the sewer committee.

What plans are considered probably will be along the lines of a sewer rental proposal to bring in an annual revenue sufficient to operate the plant efficiently. Decision on the session was made at the meeting last night.

At the first June meeting such plans will be incorporated into legislation, so that the state department may be advised and an approval given by its experts.

A letter, written by F. W. Waring, chief engineer, to City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff, recommends three things:

Urges Expert Supervision

Employment of a high grade operator who will understand the plant and run it in the most efficient manner.

Have Proper Technical Supervision

By an expert, such as C. C. Hommon, superintendent of the Canton plant, who is associated already in such a capacity for the city.

Enactment of a financial program, with the suggestion that a sewer rental plan be used.

The first two suggestions practically have been complied with. They were agreed upon even before the proposal was drawn last fall to submit to the voters. On these suggestions, then, there is complete agreement.

Council has to decide now on its maintenance plan, a plan which requires considerable study. The chief disagreement in thought hinges on the manner in which collection such a collection should be annually.

Barckhoff has suggested to the sewer committee that $3.60 a year be charged each residence or place of business, divided into 90 cents a quarter. This would bring in about $11,600 annually, or sufficient to operate the plant.

Slocum For Rental

PEARL YATES IS HONOR STUDENT

Has Highest Grades For Year at Goshen High;
Exercises May 29

Pearl Yates, with an average grade of 92 per cent for the four years' course, is the honor graduate of the 1928 class of Goshen Township High School, Danvers, Clif. Ford Clemson takes second honors with an average grade of 90 per cent.

This announcement was made Wednesday by Principal C. G. Long of the high school.

Other seniors who will receive their diplomas at the commencement exercises on May 29 are: George Miskimins, Evelyn Hall, Mary Wolford, John Wolford, Hazel Gray, Ralph Rowand, Clark Shreve, Letha Owen, Lucy Marie Maurer, Velam Schaub, Elizabeth Ingram, John Price, Jessie Williams, Allen Stanley, Carl Liber, Victor Swartzhoff.

Pearl Yates and Clark Shreve will give orations at the commencement program. The address will be by Congressman James T. Begg of Sandusky.

CRASHES, LAUGHS, IS UP AGAIN IN ANOTHER

Miss Jean Wildenrath, insert, of New York is a student flyer. She cracked her plane and her instructor on top of a cement mixer near South Washington, Va., but do you think that stopped her? No, sir. She was right up and at 'em in another plane within a few minutes. This mass of wreckage looks as though she had done a good job.

UNITED STATES TO KEEP HANDS OFF THE ORIENT

State Department Files
Chinese Note But Will Take No Action

Washington, May 16.—The Chinese protest against the Japanese occupation of Shantung has not altered the United States policy of "hands off" in the war crisis of the Orient.

The note from Nanking has passed from the White House—having been sent directly to President Coolidge—through the hands of Secretary of State Kellogg to the musty archives of the far eastern division.

Since the Nationalist regime at Nanking never has been recognized by the United States, this government has no obligation under diplomatic usage to acknowledge or reply to the document.

The southern Nationalist government vehemently protests the vigor of the Japanese action in Shantung, describing the occupation as a flagrant encroachment upon Chinese sovereignty. The extreme vigor of the Japanese military action, the text suggests, indicates a political purpose behind the mere protection of Japanese life and property in the war-torn Tsinaifu area.

Nanking calls upon the United States, as a party to the Washington treaty of 1922 guaranteeing the territorial integrity of China, to curb the Japanese.

Appoint Woodruff Prohibition Chief

Washington, May 16.—W. N. Woodruff was today appointed acting prohibition administrator for the Ohio-Indiana district with headquarters at Columbus. He has been identified with the Columbus office for some time.

Woodruff is to be given a substantial increase in funds and personnel with which to combat smuggling in northern Ohio, it was announced by Dr. J. M. Doran, the administrator, Gus J. Simmons has been designated to combat this anti-smuggling force from Cleveland.

Mad Passenger Is Held For Assault

Pontiac, Mich., May 16.—A charge of "assault to do great bodily harm" was preferred today against Clarence Frechette, 18, alleged to have slugged Harry Anderson, pilot of an airplane in which they were flying 2,000 feet over this city.

Frechette also faces two other charges, desertion from the navy and violation of a two year period of probation for automobile theft.

BUNN TO OPEN STORE TO PUBLIC SATURDAY

New Home of Retail Shoe Institution in the Metzger
Bldg. To Be Formally Opened Thursday; Fixtures
Of Solid Walnut Make Pleasing Display

Formal opening of Bunn's new shoe store at 82 Main st. will be an event of Thursday evening, when George J. Bunn, the owner, invites the public to inspect his new quarters in the Metzger building formerly occupied by the Penney store and just west of the Floding drug store.

Stock from the location at 60 Main st., where Mr. Bunn opened his business in Salem in 1916, was moved into the new room this week and a public opening will be held from 7 to 10 p. m. Thursday. Finley's Melody band will play during the evening, and favors will be given to all who attend—flowers for the women, cigars for men and gifts for children accompanied by their parents.

Solid Walnut Fixtures
When the crowds enter the new Bunn store they will be confronted with a pleasing picture of a retail shoe institution in modern dress. Solid walnut panels greet the eye with their beauty and warmth of color, and all other fixtures, including shelves, display cases and wrapping tables, are of walnut.

The display windows on either side of the entrance are of unusually attractive design, with walnut background conforming to the interior.

QUOTA CLUB TO CONTRIBUTE $100 TO CHEST FUND

The Quota club will contribute $100 to the Community Chest fund. This was announced after the meeting of the club held Tuesday evening at the Elks home.

George Koonitz, who spent five years among the Rocky Mountains, gave an interesting talk relating to the northwest country at this meeting. It was appreciated by the members.

Delegates were chosen to the international convention to be held June 26, 29 and 30 at Davenport, Ia. They are Misses Louise Goher and Martha Wire. Alternates are Misses Elizabeth Lease and Ella Stamp.

The five clubs in Ohio will hold "Ohio Day" at this convention, and Judge Florence Allen, of Cleveland, will speak at a luncheon on that day.

Harry McNicol Dies In East Liverpool

East Liverpool, O., May 16.—Harry A. McNicol, 31, former head of the Dresden Pottery company, died at his home here today, after two weeks' illness. When 21 years of age, McNicol became the world's youngest pottery manufacturer. He is survived by his widow.

Carol On Way Out

London, May 16.—Former Crown Prince Carol, of Rumania, left Oakhurst Court, Surrey, by motor car this afternoon. It is assumed that he is enroute for Brussels, as he plans to live in Belgium with Madame Magda Helene Lupescu temporarily.

MANY CHANGES IN STREET NAMES ARE CONSIDERED

Council Committee Gives Partial Report; Makes
No Recommendations

ASKS SENTIMENT OF THE CITIZENS

Main St. Change Urged; Scott Makes Ruling On Bus Routes

City council's special committee on renaming of streets and renumbering of properties made a partial report Tuesday night through Chairman Max Adler, asking that citizens indicate to the committee their preferences.

The committee holds that renumbering is an engineering problem, one which must be considered from a technical point of view, and it has secured the services of City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff who will go into details with the committee as soon as he has time available after the disposal plant contract is begun.

Adler stated that the committee feels that the one through thoroughfare downtown should bear one name instead of Roosevelt-Main-McKinley, as at present. However, what name should be used the committee has not determined.

Other suggestions which the committee is considering include one name for Evans and East Pershing, a single name for Race and Wilson, Depot and Ellsworth, Harkley and Ohio and Lincoln and Garfield.

Change High to Third
Adler stated that the committee is considering changing the name of Green to Second st., and that of High to Third st. to conform with the system of number streets instead of name streets north of Main and running east and west. After High all are number streets.

Expense of changing names and numbers would be small, it was pointed out, except to public utilities and the water department, which must change address plates. Adler said the P-O and Ohio/Bell companies are willing to make such changes whenever the changes are ordered. No opposition is anticipated from other such utilities, he said.

City Solicitor Cecil K. Scott, in a ruling to council, said that the city has no authority to route buses, but that if it desires to keep the buses off Main st., the only way would be through elimination of stops at the curb.

The ruling confirms his earlier statements. It is in answer to a request of the safety department that buses be routed from Main st.

Council passed ordinances determining to proceed with the paving of Home Circle and Grant st., placing of sanitary sewer in the Circle, and sewer laterals in Grant.

ELECT MORRIS MORGAN'S HEAD

Alliance Firm's Business
For Quarter Excellent
Reports Show

Alliance, May 16.—A. F. Morris, vice president and sales manager of the Morgan Engineering company for the last five years, was selected to succeed the late Col. W. H. Morgan as president of the company at the annual meeting of stockholders.

Morris was chosen head of the firm by the new directors who met shortly after stockholders had approved the present administration and favored the re-election of officials who have been in charge for the last year.

C. L. Taylor of Alliance was re-elected vice president and chief engineer, Charles H. Birt, secretary and comptroller; William J. Stoop, general manager and T. D. Russell treasurer.

Directors named for the year, are A. F. Morris of Alliance; A. V. Cannon, Cleveland; C. L. Taylor, Alliance; Charles H. Birt, Alliance; T. D. Russell, Alliance; R. A. Cannon, Cleveland and W. H. Morgan, Jr., of Alliance.

The Morgan Engineering company, during the first three months of 1928, has made more money than during the entire year of 1927, stockholders were told at the meeting Monday.

The 1927 report was very favorable with a good balance in the treasury at the close of the year.

ANNUAL DRIVE GOAL IS $24,200 FOR 7 GROUPS

Dinner for Team Workers
At Memorial Building
At 6:30 P. M. Today

CANVASS STARTS
THURSDAY MORNING

Federation Believes City Will Go Over Top By Friday Night

The Community Chest campaign begins tonight.

A dinner for team workers, members of the executive committee and others connected with the drive will be held at 6:30 p. m. at the Memorial building.

Plans for the canvass of the city Thursday and Friday will be outlined at this time.

The goal set is for $24,200, and the Salem Welfare federation, with its seven affiliated organizations and institutions, hopes to reach the goal by Friday night.

"We are confident that the citizens will respond in a liberal manner, and that we will go over the top before the time limit," General Chairman John S. Alan said today.

The seven participating groups in the chest will share according to the following apportionments:

Memorial building $8,500; City hospital $7,000; Red Cross chapter, $5,500; Salvation Army, $1,000; Boy Scouts $1,000; Home For Aged Women, $1,000; Quaker City band $200.

Hold Daily Meetings
Team workers will meet at 6:30 p. m. daily at the Memorial building for dinner while the drive is in progress. Reports will be given.

Rev. C. F. Evans will open tonight's dinner meeting with prayer. The High school orchestra will play several selections. Remarks will be made by retiring Chairman C. C. Gibson, General Chairman J. S. Alan, Executive Chairman L. P. Metzger, and team captains or representatives. Organization of work will follow.

Personnel of the teams of workers are as follows:

Team No. 2.—J. C. Boone, captain; H. H. Sharp, J. H. Young, Dan Pearson, Jack Byers, J. H. Brian, Joel H. Sharp, Albert Wright.

MAYOR CONFERS ON ORPHANAGE

State Charities Worker
Discusses Housing Plan For County

Miss Joanne Ortel, Columbus, of the Ohio Division of Charities, presented preliminary plans for a Columbus orphanage to Mayor Phil G. Hiddleston in a short conference this morning.

Mayor Hiddleston recently suggested that the county construct a children's home separate from the Fairmount home at Alliance. His plan was approved by the state, but the county refused to consider it seriously due to the lack of funds.

Miss Ortel, working directly under the supervision of State Superintendent Bell Grove, is figuring on a housing plan similar to that followed in nine Ohio counties very successfully.

She visited the Salem Saxon home and later went to Wellsboro for a study of a home for children there. Several representatives from the division of charities are expected in the city, Hiddleston states, and a meeting of all those interested in the county will be held.

HINKLE, VARIAN NAMED FIREMEN

James Hinkle and Curtis Varian were appointed city firemen by Safety Director Rex Ruggy today, following the certification by the civil service commission.

The two new firemen were appointed temporarily May 1, when the Manufacturers' association agreed to provide funds for the salaries of two additional firemen, and were re-appointed permanently today.

Three other candidates for the places were certified by the commission. They were, Michael Welsh, Harry Wickline, and Martin Welsh.

Chiropractors and Indian Deny Charge

New Philadelphia, May 16.—Seven chiropractors and an Indian doctor, arrested May 3, on charges of practicing medicine without a license, entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned before Judge James H. Lamneck, of the probate court here today.

WELFARE WORK

In its annual campaign for funds for community purposes, the Salem Welfare federation does not solicit for charity alone. Rather, it is an appeal for the support of organized welfare work which has become a part of community life and which cannot exist except as community endeavor, with full financial and moral support of everyone within the community. Every other community, large and small, has the same welfare work to perform and each requires a financial campaign once a year to maintain its institutions.

The work of the several institutions supported by the Salem Welfare federation is so well known and so deeply rooted into the everyday life of the city, that a special appeal before each campaign seems unnecessary. It is inconceivable that anyone would want any one of these institutions to cease its splendid community work. With the support of the citizens in the past, all have been able to enlarge the scope of their endeavors, and the community as a whole is that much richer as a result.

Amounts required to meet the demands of the various organizations are determined by means of the budget system, and each year the estimates are pruned down to bare necessities. Some organizations request and are granted more than others because it costs more to maintain them, because they are larger and because they extend their benefits to more people in the community than do the others. It is merely a matter of proportion, and results accomplished in the past have justified the apportionment in every instance.

Salem people are urged to consider this annual appeal in the light of service rendered, and of the possibilities for enlarging upon the vast amount of good these agencies collectively have done for Salem.

DON'T BE AWED

There are some persons in whose presence you feel uncomfortable. It is because you feel that you are inferior?

Possibly they are superior to you but perhaps you possess certain qualities more praiseworthy than they.

Perhaps they have a strong desire to be as talented as they think you.

They know they cannot do as well as you along certain lines, but it does not make them uncomfortable, self-conscious and unhappy.

They would not admit you are superior because of your higher degree of proficiency in some things.

If you have been straight, if you have made the most of your opportunities and used what ability you have, you should not permit yourself to be awed by those who have perhaps had greater advantages than you.

If you are a failure through lack of ambition and effort, you deserve no sympathy and it is not surprising if you have an inferiority complex.

You must remember that the most intelligent and most travelled and best educated persons are the least apt to feel superiority.

So what do you care about the lesser lights?

What Others Say

CABLES TO SOUTH AMERICA
A celebration was held in New York this week to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the establishment of cable service between the United States and Latin America. In 1878, 11 years before the first Pan American conference met in Washington, the Mexican Telegraph company was formed; in 1882, it began to operate 4,578 miles of cable and land lines. So little business was available that the toll rate to Panama was seven dollars per word.

Eight years ago the company merged with the Central and South American Telegraph company, and it now operates 26,469 miles of cable and land lines, and the cable rate on commercial messages has been reduced to ten cents a word.

In a very real sense, the growth of Pan Americanism during the last decades has been due to the energy and vision of the pioneers who 50 years ago laid the first cable linking the two continents. Many other factors, among them direct steamship services to Latin-American ports, were to combine with the cable lines in bringing the peoples of this hemisphere into closer commercial intimacy as the years passed. But the telegraph cable was the first to break the ice of an earlier isolation, paving the way for a trade relationship which otherwise must have been greatly delayed or been altogether impossible.

The future of that relationship, with its benefits and advantages to all of the Americas, continues to depend on the extent to which the facilities for free and easy intercommunication are multiplied. The two continents are still unconnected by rail, much less by motor or air highways. With the Latin-American cable anniversary reminding us of the importance of close contact as a means of promoting the Pan-American spirit, it is not difficult to visualize the tremendous possibilities of a yet closer inter-American collaboration through development of such modern methods of communication as the motor car and the airplane.—Detroit Free Press.

HANDING CAROL HIS HAT

Great Britain's ouster of Carol of Rumania marks a departure from the policy to which the world is accustomed. It is not without precedent that the British government bids the former crown prince to begone, that is the wise prerogative of government in dealing with intrigues within its boundaries against a friendly nation. But the world is accustomed to regarding Great Britain as extremely tolerant toward political refugees, and so this gesture attracts attention.

Nevertheless, expulsion of this always potential and now apparently active trouble-maker is a reasonable act of government. The situation in Rumania may partake of oppression of the peasants by the ruling powers—which means the Bratianus early rather than the royal house itself. But for Great Britain constructively to contribute to revolt by giving habitat to Carol while he plays upon that revolt solely for his own advantage, is quite out of the question. If the peasants who have been massing so astoundingly in protest against the Bratianus shall seek and obtain reforms "on their own," that is a purely domestic affair in which Great Britain or any other European government can have only such interest as is entailed by concern for European peace. But to give aid and comfort, even inferentially, to this discredited offshoot from the reigning Rumanian house is something that even so liberal a government as Great Britain can not afford, if only for the sake of stable government throughout Europe.—Minneapolis Journal.

KEEP POWDER PUFF,
TOOTHBRUSH CLEAN

Dr. Royal S. Copeland, M. D., United States Senator from New York, Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

You should not touch your nose and lips with dirty hands or a soiled powder puff. Infection is carried that way.

When I see the way women treat their faces with grimy old puffs I wonder that one of them escapes trouble. Colds, influenza and other serious ailments may be conveyed by contaminated fingers.

When one member of a family "takes cold" and goes shuffling around the place, it won't be long before the smeared door knobs and contaminated toilet soap will carry the germs to somebody else. In the course of a few days everybody will have the trouble.

An office, a factory, a senate chamber, will suffer if there is any failure to use the common sense measures of prevention. Failure to observe the simplest rules of hygiene will result in widespread misery.

A while ago I read about a bacteriological examination of a dozen toothbrushes. Twelve men had contributed their used brushes in order that this test might be made. Out of the 12 brushes ten were found to be contaminated with pus-producing germs.

Things which you handle every day are certain to become infected with agents of disease. At least they become so dirty as to be filthy, if not capable of producing a serious ailment.

When I see the black and grimy powder-puff of an attractive young woman, I wonder what germs are lurking in its dirty meshes. Really I would give a reasonable sum of money just to satisfy my curiosity as to the bacteriological contents of such a toilet accessory.

Please remember it is not safe to handle your face with dirty hands or to mop it with a filthy powder rag. Your nose and lips are avenues through which disease and death may travel to your vital organs. You cannot afford to take chances on your health and you do take chances by doing the things I am railing against. Provide yourself daily with a clean puff if you must use it.

When you come in from outside wash your hands with soap and water. Scrub them thoroughly and clean your finger nails. Keep your hands clean and be ashamed of them if they are dirty. If your joints are grimy and black it is because you are lazy and indifferent. You may be indifferent to your looks but you must not be indifferent to your health. Cleanliness, Godliness and health are closely associated.

Twenty Years Ago

(Issue of May 16, 1908)

Men engaged in the building trades in Salem are having busy days and evenings in spite of the vagaries of the weather man. In addition to the structures already under way, there are scores of people contemplating building residences.

James Braden, 80, arrived here Saturday morning from Missouri, enroute to visit his sister, Mrs. Derrenger, near Lisbon. Forty-one years ago Mr. Braden and his family, with a few household belongings, set forth from his home near Lisbon and drove to Missouri.

The Stars Say—

For Thursday, May 17.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE.

AN eventful day is forecast, from the important chain of planet's activities, with stirring transactions and movements in many lines of endeavor. The energies will be highly stimulated to action in new enterprises, in speculation, in regular channels and in employment. It is a time for forging ahead to cherished goals under a spirit of initiative and courage, but a note of precaution is entailed against misrepresentation or deception in new affiliations.

Those whose birthday it is stand at the threshold of a year of golden opportunity and advancement in many directions. It is a time bold enterprise and pushing to the goal of the ambitions, with progress and prosperity assured. A word of warning as to deception or subtlety is in order. A child born on this day may be splendidly equipped with initiative, courage, and ambition to force to high places of position and power in life.

SALEM SOLDIER EXPERT AERIAL PHOTOGRAPHER

Private Michael Yunk Is
Graduate of Air Corps
Technical School

Pantoul, Ill., May 16.—Private Michael P. Yunk, son of George A. Yunk, Star Route, Salem, Ohio, today graduated with a class of aerial photographers from the Air Corps Technical School at Chanute Field.

Distinguished officers of the regular army and leading members of the local community took part in the formal ceremonies when Captain Floyd E. Galloway, Air Corps, presented the diplomas to the successful students.

With graduation from the school Private Yunk has become qualified in the exacting art of aerial photography which holds unlimited possibilities are increasing almost daily.

The most noteworthy demonstration of its practical value in recent times was provided by the polar expeditions of Captain Amundsen and Commander Eyrud. They used the aerial camera to bring back to civilization views of the frozen north that no human eyes, other than their own, had seen before.

Enterprising lumbermen of the northern states, flying in airplanes over vast tracts of forest, are using aerial photography for timber cruising with saving of time, labor and money. It is also being used for mapping. Territories, either inaccessible or difficult to explore, now can be easily mapped by use of the aerial camera.

Private Yunk, who will complete his enlistment before deciding whether he will continue in the service to take advantage of the army retirement privileges or enter commercial aviation as an aerial photographer, returns tomorrow to his permanent organization where he will be given practical training and experience in aerial photography.

Upon completion of the course Private Yunk was assigned to Kelly Field, Texas.

Keep youth longer!
cleanse the system of poisons

Two of the great enemies to youth and vitality are delayed elimination and intestinal poisons. To keep yourself free from both these common difficulties will help you to stay young.

With the use of Nujol you can do it too. For Nujol absorbs body poisons and carries them off, preventing their absorption by the body. Nujol also softens the waste matter and brings about normal evacuation. It is harmless, it won't cause gas or griping pains, or affect the stomach or kidneys. Every corner druggist has Nujol. Make sure you get the genuine. Look for the Nujol bottle with the label on the back that you can read right through the bottle. Don't delay, get Nujol today.

MAY DEPOSE SON IN RUMANIA

Due to the present peasant uprising in Rumania, who are demanding that the present Premier resign and Juliu Maniu, man of their own choosing, succeed him, it is again rumored the efforts are being made to return Prince Carol (inset), exiled heir to the throne of Rumania, into power in place of his little son, King Michael.

Up to Treasurer To Enforce Tax Liens Is Ruling of Turner

Columbus, May 16.—It is the duty of the county treasurer, when requested by the state auditor, to enforce the lien of delinquent taxes and assessments, or either, and any penalty thereon, by civil action, for the sale of the premises in the common pleas court of the county, without regard to the amount claimed, and without regard to the probable amount to be obtained, in the same way mortgage liens are enforced. This ruling was given today by Attorney General Edward C. Turner to Prosecuting Attorney J. R. Pollock Defiance.

The dead body of a person, not an inmate of a penal, reformatory, benevolent or charitable institution, which is not claimed for private burial and is not turned over for dissection in the manner prescribed by law, should be buried at the expense of the village in which the

CHURCHES

Church of Our Saviour—Ascension day service. Celebration of the Holy Eucharist Thursday morning Ascension day, at 10 o'clock.

The Ascension of our Lord Jesus Christ was the crowning act of His earthly ministry. It deserves, therefore, a large place in the Christian calendar. Ascension day commemorates a great fact in human history, as well as a commanding truth in our knowledge of God.

The doctrine which arises from the fact is the most sublime and heart-lifting which can possibly occupy the mind of man. It is hardly too much to say that there is no truth more important, more inspiring, more helpful. It corrects almost all error in religious belief. If it had been properly understood, in all the Christian ages, it would, humbly speaking, have prevented all the divisions of Christendom. The teachings which cluster around the great event are all-important. The Lord Jesus Christ, when He departed from this world, took the body, in which He had tabernacled on earth, to the right hand of power, thus uniting the divine and human, not for time alone but for all eternity. It was expedient that He should thus go away in order that He might send the Holy Spirit to abide with us forever. Not only so, but in heaven He ever liveth to make intercession for us. And in that holy happy home, He is preparing a place for His people. Jesus not only lives, but He is at the right hand of power, to continue His blessed work through His living church, working on earth through the members of His mystical body, as they carry out the designs and desires of their great Head. He is our great Advocate on high, our unceasing Intercessor at God's right hand, our all-glorious King, who has all power in heaven and earth.

Masters-Turner

Clarence E. Turner, of Alliance, and Miss Mary Masters, nurse in the office of the county board of health at Lisbon for several years, motored to Butler, Pa., the home of Miss Masters, Wednesday, where in the First English Lutheran church they were united in marriage. Following the ceremony they will leave by motor for Washington, D. C., and other eastern points.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Masters, of Butler. She is a graduate of the Butler county general hospital, class of 1929. Prior to coming to Lisbon she was employed as a nurse in the Central Clinic hospital, and has many friends both in Lisbon and Salem. She expects to continue for a time in the county health office.

Mr. Turner is a son of Mrs. Margaret Turner, of Lisbon. He is a graduate of the Ohio Northern university school of pharmacy, and is employed by the England drug store in Alliance. For several years he was in the Hamilton drug store in Lisbon.

MANY CHANGES

Councilman Adler opposed the legislation, as he has previous steps in regard to these streets.

Accept Toronto Trip Bid
An ordinance issuing notes for Vine, Perry and Coshen paving and the white way was amended to issue $52,349 instead of $62,000.

Solicitor Scott was instructed to prepare legislation to vacate the alley east of Reilly athletic field.

The solons accepted an invitation of the P. O. company to be its guests May 23 when a bus will take city officials to Toronto, O., to view the new power plant there which supplies current to this area.

It is purely a courtesy, and the company wants the officials to see the plant, Adler was advised by President H. A. Gager in answer to a question.

City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff reported that the foundations of East Fourth from Garfield to Ellsworth and East Fifth from East School to West School, are satisfactory for surfacing.

Council voted to participate in the Memorial day exercises.

It was placed in the record by President Gager that former Councilman J. E. McNeelan died last Friday.

that at first he thought of a tax, but that he believes the payments quarterly would be best.

Rollins urged that council work fast in order that the plan will not hold up construction of the plant. The state engineer hinted in his letter that lack of a financing plan may hold up work.

Alliance is building a new plant, and has been given an ultimatum to work out a financing plan for maintenance at once, or the state will not give its final approval to the plant.

Service Director Charles A. Cavanaugh told council to provide in the plan a way for certain collection of the money, so that none will be permitted to escape and allow bills to mount.

BOULDER CANYON BILL FIGHT ON

Backers Seek Votes For Passage of Measure To Provide Dam

Washington, May 16. — Flushed with their triumph in securing a rule for consideration of the Boulder canyon dam bill, backers of the measure today began a drive to roll up the votes necessary to send the bill to the White House before an adjournment.

The prospect of adjournment being set back as a result of fights over the tax and urgent deficiency bills gave advocates of the legislation new hope that that can pass it handily in the house and break the threatened filibuster in the senate.

For the first time in their two-year fight against filibustering tactics, apparent coldness of house leaders and opposition of the "power trust," sponsors of the bill found themselves occupying a strategic position.

It will be presented to congress as a measure to save the people of the Imperial Valley of California from being engulfed in a flood which would take a toll of life far greater than the Mississippi disaster of 1925.

NOBILE SIGHTS LAND IN ARCTIC

Generals After Spoils

Although diplomatically impotent—for she has no friend save Russia—the southern Chinese government continues victorious in the field. With her advance troops now within 50 miles of Tientsin, the vital port of Peking, her armies have an open road to the forbidden city.

Diplomatic advances from Peking today confirmed unofficial reports that Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian dictator, had decided against defending the ancient capital against the advancing south.

The capture of Peking has been the supreme objective of the southern military policy for four years. But with the end of the rainbow actually in sight, there are indications that the crook of gold soon will be overturned in the scramble of rival southern generals for supremacy.

The war-weary and hungry marauders from Hupeh and Hunan have been fighting for two months in the most dreadful famine that province has experienced in years.

The division of the spoils of war among the spent followers of the exaltation southern armies is the really great hurdle in the Peking offensive. Political differences between provincial generals making up the southern force are already described in Peking reports as threatening the Nationalist military power. Confident that any differences will afford him an opening in a few months, an alliance with the new "cuts," Chang has decided to withdraw without resistance.

ACTIVITIES

Add New Equipment

Equipment has been added to the gymnasium in the form of wall exercises, boxing gloves and equipment, parallel bars, and the gym is much more complete now than ever before.

Kelley compiled the list of the organizations making the building their regular headquarters; these numbered approximately 55. They are:

U. T. C. Book club, Delphian society, Travelers club, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Rotary, Kiwanis and Quota clubs, Merchants, High school, K. of C., Grocers and Butchers, I. O. O. F., Masons, hospital nurses, granges, Dairyman's associations, Potato-Growers association, Salem Business college, Salem Country club, state miners, County Medical and Bus Drivers associations; numerous life insurance companies; Mullins Foremen's club, Bolen and McCaskey dancing schools, Salem High alumni, Ladies' Republican club, election board, Episcopal church, English Lutheran and Emanuel Lutheran churches, Ohio State alumni, Electric Furnace, city firemen, Duplicate bridge clubs, Lutheran cadets.

There were 92 banquets held, averaging 75 persons to each affair; 69 meetings of dancing schools, three boxing shows, The playground attendance for the year totaled 6,500. Kindergarten classes were held by Miss Chandler for eight months, averaging 18 per day attendance, muscals, cooking schools, shows, benefit bridge parties, numbered other activities not listed.

1120 at Boxing Show

The largest single number at the building, by actual count, was present at the Mullins boxing show staged in April. A total of 1120 people attended.

The total expenditures for the building during the coming year are fixed at $12,500. An apportionment of $8,500 is given the building through the Community Chest fund and the balance needed, raised through rents, sale of candy, pool and billiards, dinners and banquets. Money for repairing the lobby, parlor and assembly room was raised through a benefit basketball game during the winter.

The building has been assisted much by the donations of W. H. Mullins, who recently purchased and donated the play center the adjoining lot to Reilly field. Work on this lot will start this summer and additional space given to those using the playgrounds. Mr. Mullins also annually donates dinners for the Community Chest committees during the campaign.

RED CROSS

That 1,179 calls were made by the secretary of the Home Service department of Salem chapter, American Red Cross, is shown in the annual report of the chapter, just made public.

Her work also included 636 calls at office; letters written, 229, and telephone calls and wires, 720, the report shows.

Miss Anna Thomas, in giving her annual report of the nursing service, states that she made 2,154 visits in the year. The highest number was in June, 1927, when 303 visits were made. Metropolitan visits numbered 623; there were 35 pay cases; 130 free cases; fees collected, $120; Metropolitan cases, 166; Metropolitan fees collected, $33.25. Mrs. Hannah Maule is chairman of the nursing department.

Special Work

The report is as follows: Special work this year under the different departments may be summed up as follows:

There were 49 ex-service men's cases open during the year; 14 were concerning government insurance; $56,500 was re-instituted during the month of June—the last month for re-instating; 13 were concerning disability claims; 11 applications or affidavits for the adjusted compensation (federal bonus).

Two securing information for the war department relative to draft board records; 4 reports concerning men in service for government agencies; 3 applied for hospital care; 2 required no special service—just general follow-up.

Of the 221 civilian cases open during the year, an average of 52 were taken care of each month. Some are more or less chronic cases that have required some service every month. The service required included: Three reports concerning lost relatives. One man was located whose family had not heard from him in over 12 years; 2 reports concerning relatives in Europe; 5 Travelers' Aid cases met at the train and taken to relatives or friends.

Prepared Treat Lists

One hundred Christmas lists were made out of these to receive baskets from the different churches or organization for the Kiwanis entertainment, the Elk's treat, and the Rotary Father and Son banquet. The names on all of the lists represent about 100 of Salem's families.

Five assisted the Rotary nurse in getting five crippled children in the hospital for treatment.

Two in co-operation with one of our attorneys, assisted in settling two insurance claims—one accident and one industrial—which meant about $1,600 to the two families. Without the advice needed, which they had not obtained the claim might still be unsettled.

Twelve assisted with arrangements for 12 patients to enter the hospital for treatment.

One hundred and sixty-eight gave assistance in the pre-school clinic at which 168 children who started in school in September, 1927 were given physical examinations.

Eight helped to get Salem's quota of eight children ready for the fresh air camp.

During the year we made social investigations for the City hospital, Central Clinic hospital, township trustees of Perry, Butler and Salem townships, the county commissioners, probate court state welfare department, state rehabilitation department, the different churches and schools. We have also made investigations for the Red Cross family service organization, hospitals

What To Wear Gardening

ESTHER RALSTON

Woman is never free from the dictates of fashion even when gardening.

This was revealed with the introduction by Esther Ralston of the correct costume for the woman who likes to take care of her flowers and shrubs.

The first requisite is a plain washable housedress, the skirt preferably white and without pleats. Over this is worn an attractive beige crepe smock, loose enough to permit free movement and large enough to protect the major part of the dress.

The hat should be large to afford ample protection from the sun. Low-heeled sandals of woven leather provide foot comfort.

Over the hands should be worn leather fingerless gloves. These protect the hands from callouses, yet permit an easy finger grasp on clippers or spade.

And last of all, the fair woman gardener should provide herself with a small, serviceable pad on which she can kneel, so that hose, dress and knees may be safeguarded.

or government agency located in: Territory of Hawaii, Canal Zone, Rumania, Italy, England, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Colorado, California, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Wyoming, Washington, D. C.

Production Department

Production department, Mrs. Alice Brow, chairman. Five bayettes and 10 girls' dresses were made by the ladies. Ten of the W. C. T. U. and the Ruth Circle of the 'Friends' church. These were sent to the Porto Rico chapter, American Red Cross located at San Juan, Porto Rico, and a very appreciative letter was received from that chapter.

Fifteen Christmas bags were made, filled and sent to U. S. men located in the Canal Zone. These bags contained small articles such as a knife, writing paper, note book, talcum powder, pins, handkerchiefs. These were wrapped and tied by the Girl Scouts. The cards of thanks in receiving a remembrance from 'home' show how appreciative the men are.

In addition to these some mending was done for the Lean Closet and for civilian families.

First Aid Department, Dr. G. E. Biers, chairman. One first-aid class for adults was held. This was primarily for teachers and was held at the High school building. There were 17 enrolled.

Life Saving Department, Dr. R. T. Holzbach, chairman. This work has been conducted almost entirely among the Boy Scouts, and most of the tests are given during their summer camp at Lake Placidia. During the year there were 14 who passed the Junior Life Savers tests and were made Junior Life Savers. This makes a total of 38 Juniors and two seniors who have been made life savers under this chapter.

One new examiner was added. District, Dr. L. W. Atkinson, chairman. This committee answers all calls for disaster work and during the year raised $833.00 (in Oct., 1925) for the Florida disaster which was a tornado, and $2,265.36 for the Mississippi flood in April and May, 1927.

Two searches conducted for missing relatives. One located at Lisbon for brother in England.

Ten discharged prisoners given clothing and advised—some being sent to army institutions in other cities.

In addition the officers in charge have conducted many religious services which have been of social value in character building and the creation of better citizenship.

BOY SCOUTS

Salem is a unit in the Columbian County Council Boy Scouts of America, with Attorney Charles McCormick as chairman of the local organization.

There are five well organized active troops with a membership of 115 boys, all of the troops are under good leadership. Troop 1 sponsored by the Kiwanis club, with Kenneth Jones as scoutmaster.

Troop 2 of the Methodist Episcopal church, Paul Stratton, scoutmaster and Alva Stratton assistant. Troop 4, Knights of Columbus, led by Stephen Gonda. Troop 5, of the Baptist church, George Talbot, scoutmaster. Troop 31, American Legion, George Trisler, scoutmaster with William Baker, assistant.

In the past year the scouts performed many civic good turns such as traffic duty, aiding Memorial day services, fire prevention week, clean up campaign and many individual good turns.

The boys took an active part in summer camp, sending the second largest delegation of all the towns in the county.

On the Democratic side, Smith picked up delegates in New Jersey, Montana, and Vermont yesterday. State conventions in Montana and Vermont instructed 16 delegates to vote for the New York governor at Houston, and there was no opposition to his getting the 28 from Jersey.

filed in the state which automatically gives him the delegation. Florida and Texas are considered favorable Hoover territory. Vermont is doubtful, but probably for Hoover after a vote for Coolidge; and in West Virginia a primary will be held on May 29, with Hoover pitted against Senator Guy D. Goff, a favorite son.

date in pledged, instructed or committee delegates to approximately 578 in the capital's most reliable tables, and he has notable reserve strength that is not figured in that total, such as in Maryland and Ohio and Kansas. To nominate at Houston requires 734 votes.

The Democrats have been slower in selecting their convention delegates than the Republicans.

There are 13 states yet to designate their Houston delegates—Alabama, Colorado, Florida, Kentucky, Mississippi, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oregon, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas, Virginia and West Virginia.

Try To Analyze Ohio Vote
Colorado, New Mexico, Oregon and South Dakota are considered favorable Smith territory. The southern states are regarded as unfavorable. In West Virginia there is a primary on May 29, with Smith pitted against Senator Reed of Missouri.

The Hoover managers have been forced to take cognizance of the "defeatist talk" directed at the secretary of commerce. The anti-Hoover "allies" are directing a heavy bombardment along this line, contending that Hoover's weakness in the grain belt, coupled with Smith's acknowledged strength in the populous and wet east, will send the Republicans down to defeat in November. They have been concentrating upon the slogan "Hoover Can't Win."

So widespread has been this attack, and so well directed that the Hoover headquarters here today got out an analysis of the vote in the Indiana and Ohio primaries, purporting to show that Hoover was not as weak in the rural counties of those states as the results indicated. The analysis went all the way down to townships, however, it was not denied that generally Hoover lost the rural vote in both states.

Markets

FAVORITES ADVANCE

New York, May 16.—Additional advances in the favorite stocks featured the opening of the market today. Transportation stocks were particularly strong. Wright Aero jumped 5 points to 219 and Curtiss Aero gained 5½ points to 169½. Packard Motor lifted up 4½, for 200,000 shares and in a similar turnover Studebaker rose to 79½, up 2. Radio Corporation sold at 204½, up 1½, for 2,000 shares. Coppers were irregular, with Butte and Superior up ½ at 11; Anaconda up ¼, to 73½; Kennecott down ¼, at 92½, and American Smelting down ½, at 107½. The oils were steady and the rails were irregular. New York Central dropped 1½, to 125½. Gold Dust sold at 98½, up 6, for 10,000 shares.

Volent bidding for stocks of the automobile, airplane and copper companies at the beginning of trading today caused another spectacular "demonstration" of bullish strength, and stocks were whirled upward from 3 to 11 points.

Studebaker and Packard led the motor shares, both stocks selling at 79½, for new gains of 4 and 6 points respectively from "yesterday's" final prices. A block of 20,000 shares of Studebaker started the day at an advance of 2 points above the previous close. Nash, Willys-Overland, Chrysler and Hupp were active and firm.

Aviation stocks jumped 12 points in the first half-hour as the result of the official statement of President C. M. Keys of the Curtiss company, outlining the proposed construction of the country-wide air passenger service. Curtiss sold today at 183 and Wright at 223, the latter exceeding the best market records of the Standard dividend stocks.

The reserve board's industrial statement, showing March manufacturing production at the highest volume in 15 years; the 17,000-cars weekly increase in freight loadings on the American railroads; the 11,000-barrels daily decline in crude oil production last week, and the abundance of speculative money in the financial district, had their effect in stirring up speculative enthusiasm.

The copper stocks and the independent steel attracted attention by their activity and buoyancy. Bethlehem Steel rose nearly 5 points to 65 and Otis Steel, in the low-priced group, carried its advance to above 23, completing a gain of about 6 points on the movement. American Zinc continued its spectacular advance and reached a new high above 55. Magma Copper and American Smelting were active and strong.

The commodity markets were irregular, with cotton down 50 cents a bale, wheat and corn fractionally lower. Call money rates were unchanged at 5½ per cent.

According to letters which were found in her apartment, Miss Jean Le Brunx took her life with gas because of her grief over the death of the millionaire aviator, Leonard W. Bonney, who was killed last week when his plane crashed in a trial flight.

DIGS HER WAY OUT ALIVE

Mrs. Marie Billings, inset, of Whittier, Cal., is still alive due to her great fighting spirit. She was buried alive in the makeshift grave on the roadside in the Puente Hills, and after hours of fighting managed to break her way through the debris to be found by a taxi driver.

Obituary

MRS. LULA BLACKBURN

Mrs. Lula Blackburn, 54, wife of Clarence G. Blackburn, died at 4 a. m., Wednesday at her home, 46 Rose st., following a six weeks' illness of a complication of diseases.

Mrs. Blackburn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McGhee, was born June 6, 1874 at Kensington. She lived for a few years at Alliance but spent the greater part of her life in Salem and vicinity. She was a member of the Christian church.

Surviving are her husband and three children, Mrs. Evelyn Rothfuss, Miss and Robert Culbertson, all of Salem; one sister, Mrs. Albert Shank of Pittsburgh; and one brother, Charles H. McGhee of Wheatland, Pa.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Friday at the home, 46 Rose st., with Rev. C. F. Evans in charge; interment in Grandview burial park. Friends may call at the home from 7 until 9 p. m., Thursday. (Alliance paper please copy.)

MRS. CLARINDA GASKILL

Mrs. Clarinda H. Gaskill, widow of the late Charles R. Gaskill, died last evening at her home in Lisbon after an illness of two years, which became serious last Sunday.

Mrs. Gaskill was born in Clyde, N. Y., April 5, 1853. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. C. W. Waggoner and Mrs. C. C. Connell, both of Lisbon.

Funeral service will be private at the home Thursday, with Rev. P. W. Macaulay of Cleveland, in charge. Interment will be in the Lisbon cemetery.

BISHOP BAST TO KNOW FATE SOON

Kansas City, Mo., May 16.—The fate of Bishop Anton Bast, on trial here behind closed doors for alleged misuse of mission funds of the Methodist Episcopal church in Denmark, probably will be known early tomorrow. International News Service learned on good authority today.

Defense arguments have been concluded. It was learned, and it is known the case will be brought before the general conference session tomorrow morning. It is understood a recommendation will be made that Bishop Bast be acquitted of the charges but asked to resign.

FUND OF $10,000 TO AID HOOVER RACE IN SOUTH

Washington, May 16.—A fund of $10,000 was divided among Republican leaders of the south to finance the Herbert Hoover campaign for the Republican presidential nomination. Rush L. Holland, a Hoover lieutenant and former Assistant Attorney General testified today at the senate presidential inquiry.

Holland said he paid various sums to Republican leaders in Mississippi, Georgia, Alabama, and Florida to cover their expenses in campaigning for Hoover.

Perry Howard, negro national committeeman in Mississippi received $4,000, Holland said.

Auto Kills Child

Heads Bremen Relief

Major-General James E. Fechet, chief of the Army Air Corps, who is heading an air expedition of two U. S. Army amphibian planes in bringing out the trans-Atlantic monoplane Bremen from its hazardous berth on Greenely Island, the German Ambassador asked aid, pointing out that unless the queen of the westward flight is freed from her island prison within a few days, the softening ground will make a take-off impossible.

Smith Fund Donor

William F. Kenny, New York City contractor and personal friend of Governor Alfred E. Smith, who furnished $70,000 of the $103,000 donated by friends of the New York Governor toward his campaign fund.

POLICE HUNTING GIRL'S KIDNAPER

Youngstown Girl, 12, Has Not Been Found; Missing Since Monday

Youngstown, May 16.—Search for a man who has been molesting young girls on the South Side since last Friday was resumed today by Vice Squad Chief Wallace Metcalfe and city police in the effort to locate 10-year-old Beatrice Rosentbaum, of 53 W. Marion ave., who disappeared from her home early Monday.

Hundreds of officials and citizens beat the underbrush of Lake New Fort, Mill Creek park, Lincoln park, and other surrounding woods and groves until dark last night and the search was resumed at daybreak today.

Three persons now have told police that they saw the girl in a 1923 model Ford roadster with a man aged about 40 years on Monday morning. Each gave a detailed description of the man.

Metcalfe and Detectives Moore and Carney and Mayor Joseph L. Hoffman have run down a dozen clues in numerous cases where a man is said to have approached little girls in the South Side, usually at night and usually driving a Ford roadster and the description of the man in each case fitted the description given police by the three persons who saw the girl and her kidnaper Monday.

ONE AMERICAN SURVIVES OPEN

Hunstanton, Norfolk, England, May 16.—Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd of Philadelphia was the only American to survive the fourth round of the British open golf championship when in her first match today she defeated Miss Alice Dobson, a fine English golfer, five up and three to play.

Long experience enabled Mrs. Hurd, who is a former American champion to overcome the severe weather conditions, a combination of wind and cold rain, and she was never off the fairway throughout the match.

SUPREME COURT HAS REMUS CASE

Columbus, May 16.—The question whether George Remus, Cincinnati wife-slayer and former millionaire bootleg king, is sane and should be released from Ohio's hospital for the criminal insane at Lima was taken under consideration by the Ohio supreme court this afternoon.

Detroit Hails Trio Of Atlantic Flyers

Detroit, May 16.—Detroit today was prepared to acclaim the Bremen flyers, Baron von Huenefeld, Capt. Herman Koehl and Maj. James Fitzmaurice, who are scheduled to arrive by airplane from St. Louis at 2:30 p. m.

Mayor John C. Lodge's executive committee, headed by Edsel Ford, has completed all arrangements to give Detroiters as much chance as possible to view the famous German-Irish trio.

House Facing Three Muscle Shoals Bills

Washington, May 16.—Three complete Muscle Shoals bills—all involving government operation—confronted the house today as it again tackled the task of disposing of the $100,000,000 war-time nitrate and hydro-electric power project.

With all private leasing bills already rejected in committee, these measures apparently offered the only hope of settling the long controversy over the Alabama development.

Two Planes Sent

Ba-ba, Panama Canal Zone, May 16.—Two United States marine planes have left here to reinforce the air fleet in Nicaragua.

Experiments are being carried out with the Neen gas beacon for the purpose of emitting rays which penetrate fog for the guidance of aircraft.

of an oil is its ability to stand up under the intense heat in automobile cylinders. The heat resistance of an oil is determined by its flash points, the temperatures at which oil breaks under heat.

Pennzoil flash points are: Light 430°, Medium 445°, Heavy 456°, Extra Heavy 465°.

Compare these with the flash points of other motor oils. It shows why Pennzoil is the standby of airplane pilots, racing drivers, and leading automobile manufacturers.

Trying To Eliminate Illegal Voting on Ohio State Campus

Columbus, May 16.—Here's a problem which may need a Mussolini or Julius Caesar for solution.

It is: How to rid Ohio State university of the corruption in politics that has become one of the evident features of student elections in the past few years? Student body leaders in cooperation with university officials in recent student elections have tried many available means to conduct campus voting which have not been marked by irregularities and fraud on the part of supporters of candidates for the various offices to be filled.

Disgust of the undemocratic system on the part of the student body as a whole has led to the non-appearance of the more ethical scholars at the polls in recent elections, until only a small percent of the voters now elect the student officials.

An unmeasurable height in corruption was reached in the election of the annual homecoming queen in the fall of 1926. Becoming disgusted at the attempts of supporters of seven co-ed candidates to throw the election by illegitimate balloting, conservative elements of the student body joined together and started the collegiate world by naming a cow as queen.

Last week another student election, the race for representatives of the Ohio Union Board of Overseers, was thrown out when it was declared and proven to have been colored by fraud and illegitimate methods. More than 100 fee-cards which are necessary for voting, shown to have been used in an illegal way, were collected at the polls.

The Student Senate governing body has finally come to the rescue and on the suggestion of a faculty advisor has worked out a plan which they believe will eliminate corruption. A successful working of the plan of having all election booths supervised by college secretaries, was found in the election of new Student Senate members, last week.

Flapper's Vote Wisdom Questioned by Gloomy Dean

By SHIRLEY KIRKE

International Illustrated News Staff Correspondent

When Dean meets Flapper, the question arises: "When is a Flapper a voter?"

At least so it seems to Dr. W. R. Inge, Dean of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, following the recent decision of the House of Commons to give votes to girls from the age of twenty-one.

According to the dean, the vast majority of the House of Commons who voted to extend the franchise of voting to the dear sweet things of adolescent years (called "years of indiscretion" by the dean), turned out a pretty poor day's work.

A dancing, glimmering, light-minded, care and fancy free bit of femininity, saucily poised with lipstick in one hand and madly waving the red banner of the Socialists with the other, is the graphic description offered by the learned dean of the modern flapper. Alas, Webster is gone!

Imagine the picture the dean paints of a sweet mama "along in the twenties" Charlestoning up to the polls and casting her vote for the handsomest candidate, while with highly rouged lips and true to her "years of indiscretion," she plants an adoring kiss on an electioneering photograph of her "ideal government." Not so bad—that is for the favorite candidate.

Another of the reasons aired by the dean in his stand against the "Flapperage Vote" is his complete surrender to the theory of the German scientist, Wedeyver, who has found that there is only one muscle in the body which is better developed in a woman than in a man. Although the dean considers it unnecessary to say which one, we will pass it on—that muscle which "wags" the tongue.

So at last the House of Commons has brought down its towers about their heads and soon will be governed by sheiks rather than statesmen. But then, who cares? Surely not the flappers.

of falling water and escape through the smoke and flames in a burning room.

been neglected all during her married life. A little over a year ago, she testified, the defendant deserted her and the children, and went away and when he came back she caused his arrest on a charge of desertion. He was sentenced to a term of six months in the Stark county workhouse, and was serving this term at the time Mrs. Smouse sued for divorce. Alimony in the case was agreed upon.

Judgment For Executor

E. E. Forney, as executor of the estate of the late Samuel Rupert, was given judgment in court against Homer Heintzelman and others of Columbiana for $330.72, the amount being claimed due on a promissory note given by the defendants to the deceased some time ago.

The action filed two weeks ago by Rev. Fischer of Salem, against Katherine Gunesch of that city, asking for dissolution of a restaurant partnership business, was settled out of court and withdrawn.

Sell Restaurant

The Petrakes restaurant, located at the corner of Fifth and Main streets in Wellsville, will be sold at a forced sale by Sheriff Wright to satisfy a judgment entered in the common pleas court on Tuesday in the case of Theodore Petrakes against George Petrakes. The judgment entered was for $5,288 and costs, and the payment of the amount was secured by chattel mortgage covering the restaurant and store.

COURT NEWS

Passenger Asks $30,000

Fifty thousand dollars damages are asked by Albert Millward of East Liverpool, because of injuries he claims he received in an automobile accident which occurred on January 22 last, when he was riding from Warren to Salem.

Millward was a passenger by invitation in a car owned and driven by Kirby Stettinbre of East Liverpool, and he files the suit against him charging him with carelessness which, he claims brought about the accident. Driving south from Warren, they had reached the village of North Jackson where the road intersects east and west, and a car driven east on this road by Paul Gopp, smashed into them.

Millward claims that he was thrown against the glass door of the car, and his head and face were cut and he was also cut and bruised about the chest and his back was injured.

Wife Given Divorce

Gross neglect of duty was charged by Mrs. Reba G. Smouse of East Liverpool, when she prosecuted her case in court before Judge W. F. Lones on Tuesday for a divorce from Harry F. Smouse. The divorce was granted by the court, and the wife was given the custody of five minor children whose ages range from 4 to 14 years.

The couple were married in Cumberland, Md., on August 20, 1913, and the wife testified that she had

SALE OF POPPIES AIDS DISABLED WAR VETERANS

Proceeds of the seventh annual Buddy Poppy sale by Allen Reynolds post No. 892, of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S., will be used exclusively for the betterment of conditions among all disabled ex-service men and their dependents, without reference to their color, creed or nationality.

As in years past, Allen Reynolds post maintains a relief fund to be used only for the assistance of disabled and unfortunate comrades, their dependents and the dependents of deceased veterans who are in need. The proceeds from the annual Buddy Poppy sale to be held May 26, 28 will go to maintain this fund during the coming year and will be administered by a committee of post members.

In addition, to supplying aid for comrades in distress, in the matter of temporary sustenance, emergency medical or hospital treatment, military funerals for deceased veterans and veterans bureau liaison work, the proceeds of the annual buddy poppy sale also contribute to another worthy cause.

One cent for each buddy poppy sold by Allen Reynolds post is contributed to the maintenance and development of the V. F. W. National Home at Eaton Rapids, Mich. This home is used as a refuge for the orphans of the deceased comrades, and other ex-service men. Here the children are reared in "family units," under the supervision of a "house mother," and wherever possible, mothers and their own children are able to live together. The V. F. W. Home is providing these children with all the comforts available, including clothes, education and eventually a vocation that will permit them to make their own way.

The V. F. W. Home, located on 472 acres of beautiful farm land and founded in 1925, is developing rapidly. Several V. F. W. state organizations plan to follow in the footsteps of New York and Michigan, which have already erected modern building units at the National Home, dedicated to the memory of their deceased comrades and the care of their orphans.

Corns

Stop Hurting Instantly

then Lift Right Off!

Drop "Freezone" on that aching corn. Instantly it stops hurting; then shortly you lift the corn right off with your fingers. You'll laugh, really! It is so easy and doesn't hurt one bit! Works like a charm, every time.

A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs only a few cents and is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, and callouses. Try it!

Legion Auxiliary

At the regular meeting of the American Legion auxiliary held Tuesday evening at the home, McKinley ave., plans were completed for a benefit card party to be given May 22.

The auxiliary with members of the G. A. R. will attend the Baptist church service the Sunday preceding Memorial Day.

All members are requested to meet at 7 p. m. Thursday to make poppies.

To Gather Up Bags

Trucks from Christ's Mission, Youngstown, will be here Thursday morning to gather up bags and other articles.

These bags were distributed by the Women's Missionary society of the Presbyterian church, to be filled with donations for the mission. Those who care to make donations can call Mrs. G. J. Hawkins, Franklin ave.

Junior Order

The Junior order of the Rose will meet at 4 p. m., Thursday at the K. of P. hall, Chestnut st.

All members are asked to be present and any child interested will be welcome. Those who have not returned their medical certificates are asked to bring them at this time and dues will be received.

Veterans of Foreign Wars

A joint meeting of Allen Reynolds post, V. of F. W. and its Gold Star auxiliary, will be held Thursday evening.

At this time arrangements will be completed for Memorial Day and delegates will be elected to the state convention to be held June 14, 15 and 16 at Columbus.

City Hospital Notes

Frank Denning, city, is in the Salem City hospital for medical treatment.

Genevieve Ostermeier, of Sebring, has been admitted to the hospital for surgical treatment.

Miss Dorothy Woods, of Washingtonville, had her tonsils removed at the hospital.

Canton Man Speaker

Fred Witter, secretary of the Canton Kiwanis club, and lieutenant-governor for the sixth district, will be the speaker at the Kiwanis meeting Thursday noon at the Memorial building. An effort is being made to have a 100 per cent attendance for the meeting.

SEEK TO REPEAL INHERITANCE TAX

Insurgents Incensed And Will Oppose Amending Of Tax Cut Bill

Washington, May 16 — Although insurgent leaders warned that the effort might defeat all tax relief legislation at the present session of congress, a bipartisan group of senators today sought to amend the $227,000,000 tax bill to include the repeal or at least reduction of the federal inheritance tax.

The drive was doomed to defeat but it incensed insurgent leaders, who formed a coalition with the administration forces to keep tax reduction within the limit set by the treasury. The insurgents had been promised that if they supported the administration bill no effort would be made to repeal the inheritance tax.

Most of the administration senators planned to vote with the insurgents against repeal of the tax in view of this agreement, and its defeat thus was assured.

SINCLAIR GIVES BACK OIL STOCK

New York, May 16 — Another chapter in the Teapot Dome scandal was written today when Harry F. Sinclair, president of the Sinclair Oil company, at the annual meeting of the corporation offered to return to the company the 250,000 shares of Sinclair stock which he received in exchange for 501,000 shares of Mammoth Oil company stock. Sinclair also offered to pay back $400,000 in cash which he had received as dividends on the Sinclair stock. The directors accepted the offer.

The Mammoth Oil company was formed by Sinclair and his associates to develop the Teapot Dome Naval Oil Reserve in Wyoming.

Calls Goodbye, Then Leaps To Her Death

New York, May 16 — Dressed in night clothing, and calling a "good-bye" to her husband and son, in adjoining rooms, Mrs. Virginia Starr, 32, leaped to death from the bedroom window of her fourteenth floor apartment here today. The family came here from Kansas City six months ago.

Costly Bonfire

Chardon, May 16 — The residence and barn of Carl Roberts at Montville, near here were a mass of ruins today, due to a fire, said to have caused by a bonfire, late yesterday. The loss was estimated at $15,000. Roberts who teaches in the Montville schools, lost a valuable team of horses in the blaze.

Sport Costume

Scarlet and white sport costume is now being featured by Gwen Lee, motion picture favorite. The costume is of white flat crepe embroidered in bright red wool. It is sleeveless, but has a small standing collar. The skirt is knife pleated.

terior storeroom scheme. These windows, with their special trimming, are sure to attract attention at the opening Thursday night.

Arrangement of the entire interior has been designed to provide for efficiency in service as well as to please the eye. Rows of shelves on either side are high enough for just one box, so that other boxes are not disturbed when one is removed. At the center of each side is a display case, with mirrors at the bottom, for the convenience of the customer while the shoe is being fitted.

Special Display Cases

At the front, near the entrance, are special display cases for hosiery for men and women and at the rear of the long room is a section fitted up especially for children's shoes and special footwear. A staircase in the center near the rear leads to the office and sample room, giving the executives a commanding view of the entire store. A large basement under the entire store gives ample room for storage purposes.

The large storeroom has plenty of natural light and the artificial lighting system is effective. The seats are arranged in rows, back to back, through the center. They are of rich red plush, adding their dignity to the general effect of the room.

All the fixtures in this new store—the fine walnut panels, shelves, cases, etc.—were made in Salem by Salem craftsmen. They are the product of the Jessup Pattern works and as the beauty of the entire store is a credit to the city, so is the workmanship of the equipment a matter of local pride.

After being located at 80 Main st. for 12 years, Mr. Bunn found that his increasing business demanded larger quarters, and he has fitted up at 82 Main st. one of the finest stores in this section of Ohio. In designing the new store, it was his aim to attract people into it, not making an exclusive store, but one in which every customer might feel at home. And so he has equipped his new store in keeping with the merchandise he sells.

Agent For Popular Lines

Bunn's shoe store is the exclusive agent in Salem for the popular Arch Preserver, Florsheim and Bostonian shoes and while it caters to quality shoes, it also has good shoes in the cheaper lines. Its hosiery department is becoming an important part of the business and special attention is paid to this department.

Mr. Bunn has endeavored to establish an institution, rather than a store, and he has been able to accomplish this through proper fitting and service that means what the word implies. He employs only experienced shoe fitters and thus has built up a large business.

In building a reputation for quality of service, Mr. Bunn has gained recognition which is a tribute to his success. He is vice president of the Ohio Valley Retail Shoe Dealers association, which includes Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky and he is a director of the national association.

Victim of Chinese

Mrs. W. T. Hobart, Methodist missionary to China at Tsinanfu, China, is the first American reported killed in the recent China-Japan situation. She met her fate by a bullet fired through a window of the Mission Station by a Southern Chinese soldier, according to reports of friends.

At eleven of the eighteen Republican national conventions thus far held, the presidential nomination has been awarded on the first ballot.

HUMAN FOOT IS VERY COMPLEX STRUCTURE

The human foot is a complex structure, and as we study it we find that it is composed of:

- (1)—Bones, to give rigidity;
- (2)—Ligaments, to hold in shape;
- (3)—Blood vessels, to feed;
- (4)—Muscles, to provide motive power;
- (5)—Nerves, to direct.

Each one of these integral parts has its own individual function to perform, and only when each one is able to perform properly is the foot going to be comfortable and healthy. Like the great bridge, one small girder might not seem so important. You would think it could be torn out and thrown away. Yet, by doing so you very likely would weaken the entire affair and eventually cause its ruin. Nature has made the foot so strong and durable that it will withstand a surprisingly large amount of abuse. But there is a limit to the abuse and strain that any piece of machinery or structure can stand.

The intricate structure of the human foot will continue to perform its duty throughout a man's lifetime, if simply protected from the unnatural and unnecessary strains and abuses to which it is subjected in shoes of the ordinary type.

The nerves must not be cramped and pinched; the same thing is true of the blood-vessels. If the nerves are pinched, strain and distress occur and normal foot action is impossible. If blood vessels are pinched, then the blood cannot circulate well, and the general health of the foot is at once impaired. The bones, too, must be permitted to remain in their normal position. Any sort of pinching that affects the bones also affects the nerves and blood vessels, and vice versa.

Nor can a foot long remain in a healthy condition if anything is done to stretch the ligaments which bind the foot-arch structure together. The ligaments are for one purpose only: To hold the foot in its normal shape. If they are abused by severe and constant strain, they become stretched. If this abuse is continued over a long period of time then the ligaments are permanently weakened, and the foot's usefulness is greatly decreased. The most common symptom of ligament weakening is the fallen arch.

PRIMM ENGAGED AT BUNN STORE

With the opening of his new shoe store in the Metzger building this week, George J. Bunn makes formal announcement of the appointment of James D. Primm to his sales staff.

Primm has had many years of experience and is well known to the shoe trade. His ability in proper fitting and selection makes him a valuable addition to the Bunn sales force.

STYLE STUDIO CREATES NEW SHOE MODELS

Away up near the top of one of New York's well known skyscrapers, far above the din of traffic in the canyon below, you will find, if you care to visit it, a unique studio with a very serious purpose.

The word "studio" calls up visions of artists working with brush and colors, but this studio is different. It employs artists to be sure, but instead of brush and color they work with beautiful leathers to mould into dainty form, fashion's dictates of the moment in women's charming footwear.

It is the style studio maintained by E. P. Reed & Co., of Rochester, N. Y., manufacturers for over 60 years of fine footwear for women.

Here queen style holds court. Here it is that new style tendencies are developed into shoes of unusual beauty, many of them destined to make their mark in the fashion world.

Paris, Vienna, Berlin and Fifth ave. right around the corner, tell of the coming preference in milady's frocks and this guides the fashioning of footwear gems to delight the feminine fancy.

So successful are these designers, that many of their shoe models, aside from winning favor among fashionable women, have won grand prizes in about every international shoe exposition of recent years. Even decorations of kings have been granted in recognition of this designing genius.

This accounts for the popularity of Reed's Varsity Girl and Reed's style shoes. Their charm is not happenstance but the interpretation of styles that will be seen with the smartest of costumes or fashion's famous highways from coast to coast.

HOSIERY DEPT. IS BUSY CENTER

Miss Oesch Manager Of
This Department In Bunn's Store

Bunn's hosiery department, under the management of Miss Mary Oesch, is already recognized as one of the most successful shopping centers of the city. In the new store this department has been enlarged to twice its former size. It is ideally located on both sides of the entrance and is divided into two sections, one for women's hosiery exclusively and the others for men's and children's.

With the tendency for ensemble dressing, the harmonizing of the complete costume, hosiery is growing more and more important every day. Women are eager for real information about hosiery, for the knowledge of the proper type and color of hosiery to be worn with certain costumes and for definite occasions.

Bunn's store stresses at all times the correct hose to wear with everything. In this department every demand is met, whether it be for a shimmering chiffon in some delicate evening shade or the deeper tones in a service weight for street and daytime wear.

INDIA PRODUCES BEST KID SKINS

The principal country of origin of the kid skin is India, for her climatic conditions are most favorable for the propagation of the species.

The raising of goats is all important and all conditions for the growth of the most suitable skins for tanning purposes are nearer correct in India than in any other country. The finest skins, and those from which Sterling Kid is made, are grown in the Patna district.

Mr. George J. Bunn,
Salem, Ohio.

Dear Mr. Bunn:

We send you our warmest congratulations on your fine new store, and our earnest wish for your continued success.

It has been a pleasure to have you selling our women's Arch Preserver Shoes, because we know you have always tried to satisfy your customers with a wide range of styles and you have carried the necessary widths and sizes to insure a correct fit, to insure both style and comfort to each wearer.

Further, you have explained to your public the exceptional advantages in these shoes, the correct support, with flat inner sole to prevent pinching and metatarsal support to prevent strain, which are exclusive and patented.

For nearly ten years—ever since you have been one of our dealers—we have considered you one of our best qualified representatives.

Now, with your fine new store, and the charming new styles we are offering, you can not help but satisfy the most fastidious purchaser.

Yours very truly,

ABNORMAL FEET ARE CAUSED BY MISUSE, ABUSE

Secrets of Foot Comfort Are Explained Fully By An Expert

How many times have you bought a shoe which felt perfectly comfortable when the salesman fitted it on you, but which after a few hours' wearing began to feel uncomfortable, and later subjected you to a most painful "breaking-in" process?

Did it ever occur to you that the fault was not with the shoe but rather with your foot? All shoes are made on standard lasts to fit normal feet. However, 70 per cent of feet through misuse or abuse have become abnormal. By this we mean that one or more of the 26 delicately adjusted bones have been crowded out of place, and when the foot is encased in a shoe built on a standard last certain nerves between these bones are pinched.

Naturally their response to this pinching is a protest through pain. If you do not give the foot relief, the sympathetic nerves extending upward to your brain all join in the protest and the consequence is you feel pain in your legs, in your back or even into your neck. Many people are suffering from foot trouble when they believe they are subject to sciatica or rheumatism.

Now to get back to the shoe. Your foot may not be normal. It's abnormality may be so slight that it is not apparent to the eye. But when you put it into a shoe, that shoe must be molded to fit exactly. Your foot must yield a little, and your shoe being weaker material must yield a little more. This yielding on both sides is what is called "breaking-in." After a time the foot and the shoe become adjusted to each other, but the pain of the "breaking-in" is remembered. It is this that has given rise to the saying, "as comfortable as an old shoe."

How many pair of shoes have you had in your life? In how many has the breaking-in process been uncomfortable? Remember that each time the foot yields a little more there is come back. The bone forced out of place stays out of place—unless you put it back.

Perhaps you have broken arches. Or perhaps you run over your heels. This running over of the heel is usually the first sign of foot trouble. Remember that the trouble is inside the foot long before it is apparent outside. Undue strain on various muscles cause them to weaken and as they relax their firm grip upon the bones, the foot begins to toe out and the ankles to tilt in. This tilting in of the ankle is the visible manifestation of the tilting inward of the heel bone. It is only after the heel bone loses its even keel that the arch begins to go down.

That's why the first step toward the permanent binding up of an arch, toward the permanent correction of the foot, is the leveling of the heel.

An illustration of this fact is apparent through an examination of the hand. Lay your hand flat on the table with the fingers together and the thumb projecting outward. Then with the hand normally relaxed slowly draw the thumb backward until in line with the index finger. You will observe that the palm has gradually raised itself.

For the sake of example, consider this the normal foot, the arch under the palm representing the arch of the foot. Now suppose that abnormal pressure was brought on one or another point of the hand till the raised palm, the "arch" rested again on the table. Note that the thumb is no longer on a line with the index finger.

Now raise the palm of the hand under the knuckles (the instep). What happens to your thumb? It is raised too but it does not recede into its former position. Now let your hand fall again until the palm rests upon the table. Slowly bring the thumb back into line with the index finger. Do you observe what happens? You have put the thumb (the heel) back where it belongs and it firmly holds the knuckles (the arch) in normal position. The knuckles cannot fall while the thumb is in this position.

The same is true of your foot. The arch cannot fall when the heel bone is in position. To insure permanent correction and absolute comfort it is not sufficient to raise the arch—you must begin with the heel.

That is why the foot expert, viewing your foot from the front or the back, and seeing that the ankle leans either to the inside or the outside, knows he must correct the foot by building up the heel. His special training has taught him that this is essential. The same thing is true in the case of Morton's toe or calluses; these conditions result from bones out of place, and inasmuch as the heel bone is the key-bone of the foot it is necessary to straighten it before true corrections can be achieved.

If your shoe salesman understands his business he will put a shoe on you that is of your correct size, long enough and broad enough—also short enough or narrow enough—in other words, the exact size; and if your foot shows any abnormality he will correct it with an appliance. One may be had made entirely of leather, lightweight, absolutely flexible, so infinitely adjustable that one fitted to your foot becomes as absolutely and intimately your own as a tailored suit. These are advertised on another page and any of our readers who are suffering from foot trouble would do well to inquire about them from their shoe dealers.

Thus you will be saved the painful breaking-in process and the bones of your feet will gradually be eased back into normal position.

The osier industry is one of the oldest handicrafts, and no machine has yet been invented for making osier or wicker baskets.

Recall Days When Shoes Were Sold By "Stick Length"

"The old way of selling shoes by 'stick length' has gone forever," George Bunn, owner of Bunn's store which is holding its opening Thursday night, said today.

Bunn explained how 25, 15, or even ten years ago, customers would come into the store, buy shoes for themselves, and then display a number of sticks of different lengths.

"Bobby's foot is this length. I want a pair of black shoes for him," they would say. "William takes a shoe this length." Using only the length of the stick as a guide, they would stock up the family with shoes.

Variations in shoes were not wide, and the extremely narrow foot and the unusually broad foot were not recognized in those days, Bunn said, and the customer had to accept a shoe made for an average foot.

All this has now given way to scientific fitting, he added. Bunn early learned that there was a demand for narrower shoes, and began to carry extremes in stock for their customers who had special demands in shoes.

The salespeople knew shoes and the art of scientific fitting. They made a study of each customer's requirements and insured the correct shoe for him. Records were kept of the measurements of certain customers for their convenience.

As a result of this service and fitting, Bunn has drawn trade from outside. Customers have told others, and it is no unusual thing to receive orders from many towns distant from Salem.

In fact, Bunn has sent shoes to 26 states, filling order from records kept in his store.

WALKS 100 HOURS WITHOUT A STOP

Crowds Enjoy Seeing Vet Change Socks, Hopping On One Foot

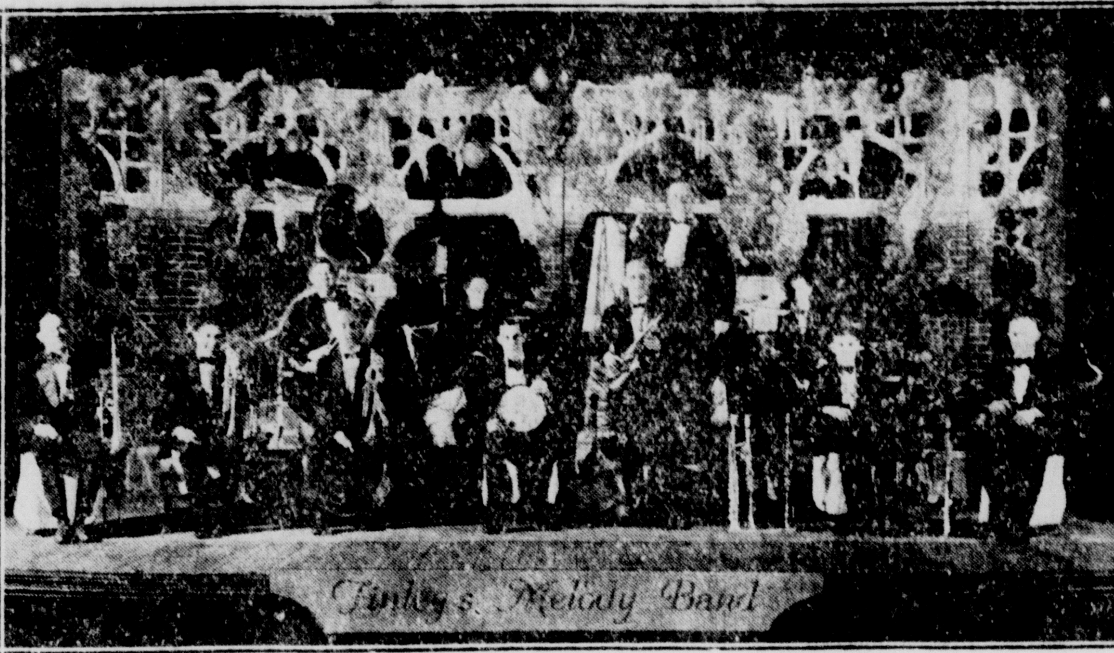

James A. McSherry, veteran long distance walker, recently broke his own record of 108 hours continuous walking by pacing the streets of Seattle for 110 hours without stopping.

This is an authentic record, because every hour Mr. McSherry checked in at one or another of the Seattle police stations, situated at great enough distances so he had to keep moving every minute in order to check in at the proper time.

McSherry started this record-breaking jaunt at 8:30 a. m., Tuesday, Feb. 28, from the Florsheim Shoe store, 903 Second ave., Seattle, Wash. He wore a pair of the New Florsheim Improved Feature Arch shoes throughout the entire test and reported that they were the most comfortable shoes he had ever worn on any of his many endurance trials.

The event was followed with intense interest by the people of Seattle.

EXPLAINS TERM BROKEN ARCHES

Flat Feet, Fallen Arches Aren't Only Troubles Under This Name

The term "broken arches" has a vague meaning in the minds of most people. It is often thought to mean flat foot, fallen arch, etc. Broken arch may be defined to be any abnormal interruption in the contour of the arches made up by the foot bones. It means any separation of normal contact between the bones. This condition does not necessarily mean flatfootedness. In fact only one out of ten persons with broken arches has flat feet, the majority of cases having an arch that is normal in height or has not fallen. Foot troubles start with "broken arches," the majority of which remain in the high arch state, some of them becoming weakened and fall somewhat, and a very few going on to flatfootedness.

What may appear to be a paradox is that flatfooters, as a rule, have little or no pain, while the high broken arches constitute the most painful type of feet. Another fact, that is not usually understood, is that flatfootedness has nothing to do with pain.

You will be interested to know what application this has to shoes. In the first place shoe manufacturers as a rule build a so called "arch support" shoe with the thought in mind of supporting flat feet. Shoe fitters and dealers are always impressed with a case where flat feet have cracked a heavy shank in two. So as a result of this mental state, heavy rigid steel shank shoes are placed on the market which are designed for the minority of feet that have very little trouble, and are not fit for the vast majority of feet that are very painful. No wonder there is so much confusion and skepticism among the various members of the shoe trade.

A correct shoe is one that is in harmony with foot movements and keeps the feet well balanced. We have experimented with all types of shoes on thousands of patients representing every type of foot ailment known.

The principals are scientifically in harmony with the minute structure and function of the feet thereby overcoming the real cause of foot symptoms, that is, strain. Broken arches with foot strain are scientifically guided back to a position of balance and rest by such shoes. They are physiologically correct, they are rigid where support is required, and flexible where motion is imperative.

Washington—Horsedrawn vehicles in which Presidents Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson traveled upon occasion have been placed in the permanent exhibit of the army quartermaster department. They were used for White House marketing until February when automobiles replaced them.

Are you ready for SPRING?

Will your rubber footwear give you the protection you'll need for that unexpected blizzard—or that rainy spell with its accompanying mud and wet pavements?

It will if it is Goodrich Hi-Press. Goodrich has a patented, high pressure, rubber toughening process that puts extra wear into millions of pairs of rubber footwear, Zippers, boots, gaiters, rubbers, canvas shoes, etc.

The name Goodrich Hi-Press on rubber footwear means long wear and true economy. That is why George J. Bunn sells it.

After the inclement spring weather the children will want Goodrich Zipps Canvas Shoes. Several styles are shown on this page. Mr. Bunn will help you select the right style.

BEST PATENT LEATHER FROM RUSSIAN COLTS

The best patent leather is made from Russian colt skins. To protect them from the cold climate, the Russian animals have a coat of long, fine hair which gives to the hides a finer grain than those from any other country and makes them most desirable for shiny leather.

The raising of horses is carried on to a far greater extent in Russia than in any other country in the world because the flesh of the animals is used for food.

The Mohammedan does not eat beef. It is contrary to his religious belief to do so. Consequently the horse and the colt form a large part of his meat supply and the animals are raised for this as well as for draft purposes.

Russia is often thought of as largely an area of ice, snow and wintry blasts. As a matter of fact the larger portion of the country is extremely fertile and suitable in every way for the pursuit of agriculture.

Every year in the late summer at Nijni Novgorod, a town situated at the junction of the Volga and Oka rivers, is held the greatest fair in the world. Every conceivable kind of merchandise is here bought and sold and a business said to approximate $200,000,000.00 is transacted during the six weeks of the fair.

For centuries the Russian people have gathered at different places along the river to barter one kind of merchandise for another. In 1624 the largest fair was held at Jeltsivodki, 50 miles down the river from Nijni Novgorod, this fair growing every year for nearly 200 years until 1817, when a better location was sought and Nijni Novgorod was selected.

The Russian farmers kill their colts for the meat and the hides are picked up by collectors who gather them in storehouses in the larger towns. A good many skins are being sold at all times, but the larger part of the supply is brought by water to the Nijni fair.

JESSUP MAKES NEW FIXTURES

Display Units In Store Are Manufactured At Salem Plant

Pictures for the new Bunn shoe store were manufactured at the Jessup Pattern work in this city. All the new wall and floor cases, wrapping counter and display units of all kinds were made by Jessup's craftsmen.

The fixtures, of black walnut, make a most pleasing appearance and are sure to elicit many favorable comments from the crowd expected to attend the store's opening Thursday night.

Jessup states that Bunn will have one of the best equipped shoe stores between Cleveland and Pittsburgh.

Business at the Pattern works this year has increased to a point more than double that of last year. Jessup says every installation is a salesman, bringing prospects from many cities. Recently he has equipped stores in East Liverpool, Youngstown and other Ohio and Pennsylvania cities.

The plant is now employing 40 men and there are many orders on file for future business.

Proper Distribution Of Load On Feet Is Needed For Comfort

The materials of the foot are the long bones of the feet that have rounded forward extremities called "heads," located at the ball of foot. Contrary to the accepted idea, there is no arch at this point.

A real arch is made up of wedge shaped units in close contact, with a keystone in the middle, while the ball of the foot contains a row of round heads working independently of each other and only very loosely connected.

The most significant point about the metatarsal heads is that each one bears its part of the load. That is, all metatarsal heads bear on the sole of the shoe at every step, and not merely the first and fifth, as the now exploded "three point or tripod suspension theory" would have us think.

So metatarsal pains have nothing to do with the mythical "dropped metatarsals" or "broken metatarsal arch."

Of real significance to shoe men is the physiological fact that proper distribution of the load across all the metatarsal heads is imperative for comfort. Absence of distribution causes the weight to be focused at one or two heads, causing painful calluses and injury to the covering of the bones. Metatarsal pain is always secondary to disturbed foot action and balance. Improper shoes will unbalance the foot so that proper weight distribution is impossible.

Pain in the fourth metatarsal, sometimes called Morton's toe, is a neuritis commonly a sequel to sprained ankles and resulting in unbalanced foot action. Relief from this as well as other metatarsal troubles depends upon correcting weight distribution.

In the act of walking, the streams of weight-bearing forces move through the foot from heel to the outside of the arch, across the ball and then out the toes. This is called the "moving load" by engineers, in reference to bridges.

A Fashion Model's Diary

By Grace Thorncliffe

She Describes New Evening Gowns to Her Friend Julie.

LAST week I had to cut short my letter to Julie when I had a half described some of the loveliest things of the season in answer to her letter asking for recent fashion notes. I've continued it and copied it into my diary.

Dear Julie: To continue from where I left off in my last letter. Evening gowns are to be worn longer. I'm glad of it—they're much more graceful. The irregular hemline adds to the effect of length by trailing off down the back to one side. This type of dress is delightful in the new printed georgettes, most of which are done in flowered designs with lovely blending of colors. And so cool—simply grand for sultry summer nights.

The majority of these dresses are made with the moulded neckline and some kind of loose tie at the waist or shoulder or both. I'm sending along a sketch lest you complain that my description is feeble. Printed tulle which is even newer, are being made along the same though slightly modified lines.

Sever before have hats been so cunning and amusing. There are little felt ones with tiny brims twisting in and out showing up in unexpected places and growing into hats or bows. The vogue for high collars whether for entire hats or trimmings is pronounced. Everything appears to be shellacked or varnished to a high point of brilliance. Another extreme novelty is the "water wave" or wig hat with a design worked in straw representing the lines of the bob. Some of the latest imports show well-defined waves from either side of a simulated part, heightening the effect of an actual coiffure.

Flower and feather turbans, sheered or plain, are numerous and beautiful. All of the new millinery has a tendency toward shallow crowns and is to be worn with a dropped tilt over one eye—hence the amusing, much spoken-of "eyebrow silhouette."

I think now, I've given you a rather good summary, but if there's anything I've neglected and you want described let me know.

Clara Patten's Essay On Credit Is Winner

Miss Martha Wire, manager of the Salem Credit bureau, who has been lecturing on credit before the students in Salem Business college, offered prizes for the best essays on the subject.

Miss Clara Patten, winner of the first prize, wrote the following:

Credit

From the transaction in the small country store in which the school boy is trusted for the price of a pencil tablet to the huge schemes on Broadway which involve hundreds of thousands of dollars, the essential ingredient is credit—the permission of a holder of money given to another to use that money, permission given in the belief that the borrower will repay in due time. This is credit and true credit is the same in principle the world over. According to one writer, credit is the ability to borrow money on the opinion conceived by the lender that he will be repaid.

Knowing what constitutes credit, we could judge what must take place to maintain that standing even though we did not from experience know what qualities and conventionalities must be observed by the debtor if he would retain the title of a good risk. First as to the qualities he must portray in his dealings: He must show honesty, fidelity, and stability; honesty in information as well as in the payment of his debts, fidelity in his personal relations as well as in his material connections, stability in his character as well as in his business enterprise. To prove the possession of these characteristics, he must pay all bills with promptness, meet all obligations, and promises with alacrity, show willingness to disclose to the lender the true standing of his business on the supposition that any unnecessary reticency would lead to the belief that the business was in such circumstances that he feared to disclose the actual facts.

In many cases unlocked for occurrences so alter the trend of business that a man is unable to meet his indebtedness on the designated date of settlement. In such a case his credit may be maintained by making known the circumstances with absolute accuracy and frankness. The instances will be few where the debtor will not be allowed additional time in unimpaired faith in his ultimate intention to pay.

Such an institution as credit thus far seems to be and involving so many essential factors, we are not surprised to find it an important item in our social and commercial worlds. In the latter we would say that more than half the volume of business done in a given time is carried on through credit. In any large concern the credit department is side by side in importance with the bookkeeping department, and the credit man has as much or even more to do with the success of the enterprise as the manager of any other division. To the credit man falls the job of investigating every applicant for credit and to him comes the blame for bad debts. As a safeguard against loss the credit man resorts to "confidential interchange of information." He endeavors to learn from former business and social companions the applicant's financial standing, his reputation and character, his failures and successes in other cases of extending him credit; in short all material, reputable and detrimental which might help in a decision as to the degree of risk. Character, capital, and capacity are the qualities on which credit may be safely extended. Credit virtually keeps the wheels of industry moving for without it the concerns of magnitude as well as those of modest proportions would be hampered in their buying and running capacity. Socially good credit aids a man to responsible positions and gives his family an enviable good name. Credit increases his earning and therefore raises his standard in other things.

As to the advisability of granting credit: It seems to me that good risks are an advantage to both the borrower and the lender. It allows the former to carry on his business over a hard time or through other difficult circumstances. It permits the latter to use his money to the benefit of some one else and to his own in the form of interest. Bad risks decrease the desirability of credit yet they may be eliminated to a great extent by the judicious granting of credit. I believe that this is true: That with all its disadvantages, if credit were removed from our commercial transactions, business would be so hampered that only a fraction of the present volume would then be carried on.

Simplex Flexies

— start little feet growing straight from the time of Toyhood Days

Toyhood Days — happy times for Girlhood and Boyhood but hard times for little shoes which bear the brunt of skipping, scuffling small feet! Many mothers have been grateful to learn of Simplex Flexies — children's shoes, designed with the least stiffness and the most sturdiness.

Flexies not only wear well but best of all, they keep young feet young! Flexible soles and ample toe room let little feet exercise freely and naturally. Feet rest squarely on the ground on three point suspension — pliant legs can't bow in or out. Snug fit at ankle and instep help to hold legs straight and steady. Glove-smooth lining, free from rough seams and tack ends, adds the final measure of comfort.

Flexies are made in both high and low styles, in a great variety of fine leathers. Let us fit your children with these dainty health shoes for healthy feet.

CORDOVAN MADE FROM MEMBRANE

For the Open-Air Girl

Gristle from rump of Mule Or Horse Is Used For This Leather

"Cordovan" is the name applied to a type of leather made from "Fascia," a membrane or gristle growth found between the skin and flesh in the rump or butt of the horse, mule or mule. It is interesting to know that the horses that break their legs, or are in accidents in the streets of America, are immediately killed by the police and then their carcasses taken to a "Renderer" who unhides the animal and cuts the skin into two parts. The forepart of the skin, including the neck and shoulders, is sent to tanners to be made into coltskin, patent-colt, patent-horse, or horsehide leathers, while that part of the skin from the hip back is sent to other tanners to be made into cordovan and horsehide used in the making of baseball gloves, baseball covers and the like. The best butts come from the unbranded horses of the United States, Argentina, etc.; those coming from horses are generally smaller in size than those coming from America. The branded hides coming from the Western states are, naturally, not as valuable as unbranded hides because the brand is greatly impaired by the cordovan derived therefrom due to the fact that the branding iron burns through the hide, fascia and into the flesh, and when made into leather this searing is plainly visible.

Cordovan is always tanned with bark extracts; in the process the fascia in the butt resembles large spectacles—there being two shiny spots, one on each side of the butt, and as the tanning chemicals work into the hide the spectacles become more visible and more firm. The hair side of the butt is laid flat on what are termed "beams," the flesh is scraped off the butt with a knife until the inner butt or fascia is revealed. The tanning process is then completed and the "grain or hair side" is split off by machine to give an even thickness to the leather. When completely tanned the "spectacles," "fascia" or "shells" which is the real cordovan, are oiled, stuffed and then coloring matter rubbed in. The finishing is done on the flesh side which if on a calfskin would give us a suede finish leather. Thus you can understand that this part of the horse is quite different from other animals. The leather is finally glazed the same as kidskin and is then ready for the market.

Cordovan has no pores, and is practically water-proof. It is very tough but having no fibres a tear or cut is not easily repaired. Under the microscope the grain looks something like a honeycomb, therefore it can be easily understood that when a well oiled cordovan is creased it shows a white mark, but when the finger is rubbed over this white mark, it becomes dark again. What actually happens is that in the creasing of the cordovan the oil and fats are forced out of the little cells, giving a white appearance, then when the finger is rubbed over the crease it forces the oil back again and the leather is once more its natural color. When cordovan is completely tanned it is a "buff" shade similar to sole leather, but may be dyed from a medium brown shade to wine, dark brown and even black. Being very firm it is used generally for men's shoes and the reason it seems to "bite" the big toe when made into shoes is, that the leather is so tough and will not stretch that in bending the shoe one part of the leather rolls on top of the other part and presses into the foot causing the blisters.

"CALFSKIN" MADE FROM PELTS OF CALVES

Calfskins is the leather made from the pelts of calves (young of the cow, domesticated). The pelt may be termed a "skin" if it weighs not over 15 pounds in green salted state, if over that weight it is termed "kip" till it weighs over 25 pounds when it is termed a "hide."

The best calfskins generally come from countries of cold climate where there is plenty of good grazing. The cold climate gives to the skin plenty of fine hair to keep the animals warm, and the abundance of good grazing makes for firm even textured skin construction; this is easily discerned by comparing a raw hide coming from a western cattle ranch with one coming from a dairy state such as Minnesota or Wisconsin.

A fair amount of excellent quality calfskin is produced in the U. S. A., coming from those states important in the production of dairy products such as Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Ohio, New York, etc. It can easily be understood that cattle carefully reared and given all possible advantages yield much better pelt than the skins of those cattle coming from the western ranches where grazing is uncertain, where the animals are always in contact with bushes and briars which scratch and injure the skin, these defects all show up in the finished leather.

Russia produces excellent calfskin but since the World war there has been practically no export of hides from this country. Fine skins are also produced in such countries as France, Belgium, Holland, Poland, Scandinavia, the Baltic states, etc. Australia and Java produce skins considered less desirable than are those from Argentina and other South American countries.

Calfskin when tanned with bark extracts makes an excellent firm yet pliable leather, it holds its shape well and is characterized by the expression being "meaty." The bark tanning of leather takes about three to five months. When treated with chrome, or what is called chrome tanning it produces a fine soft textured leather which though lighter in weight than if bark tanned, still has great wearing qualities. The chrome tanning requires only about three to six weeks for tanning and as the result leather is really very good, most upper leather is tanned by the chrome process.

"Capeskin". This is the name applied to a type of sheep skin which used to come from the Cape of Good Hope in South Africa. The name, however, today is applied to sheep skins which have a long or wavy wool, giving to the leather a finer, inner texture than found in domestic sheep.

The skins are generally used in making walking gloves for men.

"Case Leather". This refers especially to leather used in making traveling bags, suit cases, etc. It is generally cow hide, bark tanned split, and then undergoes a process for stiffening, is dried, and the glazing put thereon with the glazing jack.

"Caster" originally was the name of leather made from the pelt of a deer-like animal, but now the name is applied to an oiled leather, generally kid, finished on the flesh side. It is a type of "sued leather." "Chrome Tanned Leather": This is the most prominent tanning for upper leathers, especially kidskin. It receives its name from the chrome salts used in the tanning process. It may be distinguished from bark tanned leather by its pearl green shade imparted to it by the use of chrome salts.

"Chamois": Originally this was the skin of a chamois or antelope, but now the name is applied to the "flesher" or under splitting of sheepskin. The sheepskin is split in two, the grain split is known as "skiver," and the flesh split is known as "flesher." The "flesher" has come to be known in the trade and in commerce as "chamois" and is used chiefly for cleaning of glass, automobiles, etc. A little is used for the shoe trade for shoe linings etc.

"Coltskin" is the skin from the "colt" or young horse. It is really that part of the skin which lies between the head and the hips of the horse, for from the hips down there is a growth of fascia or shell from which cordovan is made. Coltskin has a fine hair which when removed leaves an excellent base upon which to put an enamel for the making of patent leathers. The pores in colts-skin as small and evenly distributed. This makes it possible to give a very smooth coating of enamel, and as coltskin is very strong, and stretches very little, it makes an excellent base for patent leather, though it is often straight chrome tanned and resembles kidskin.

Display of Ladies Silk Hosiery Will Be Opening Feature

Extraordinary display of ladies' silk hosiery will be shown during the opening of Bunn's new shoe store next Thursday night, through the courtesy of the McCallum Hosiery Co. McCallum silk hosiery is one of the most exclusive and finest quality lines of hosiery made.

This display includes fine hand-made lace designs, fancy clocked types, also metallic in gold and silver.

Outstanding Shoe Of Industry Being Handled by Bunn

The record made by the Arch Preserver Shoe for women, the featured line in the store of George J. Bunn, Salem merchant, has no parallel in the shoe world.

About ten years ago this shoe was placed on the market by The Selby Shoe company of Portsmouth, Ohio. It was different from ordinary shoes, not in appearance, but in its hidden construction. It was claimed to give adequate support to the foot and to stop such abuses as pinching and cramping.

Today, nearly two million women are wearing it, and they report a larger measure of foot comfort than they ever knew before.

One of the first dealers to take on the Arch Preserver shoe was George J. Bunn, of Salem. He believed in the principles embodied in the shoe, and also realized the need of a better type of shoe. He had seen in his own experience that an overwhelming majority of women were suffering from abused, tired feet. And he found the relief for these feet that he was searching for. Hundreds of women in Salem and vicinity have been fitted by Mr. Bunn and are loud in their praises of this shoe.

"The Arch Preserver shoe marked a new epoch in the manufacture of shoes," said Mr. Bunn yesterday at his new store, just opened at 82 Main st. "This shoe brought about the realization that a shoe should give both comfort and style, that beauty in footwear should never exact a penalty of suffering on the part of the wearer."

"We believe this is the first truly correct shoe ever offered. We know it is the best shoe we ever have sold and that it is giving the high standard of satisfaction that never fails to delight the heart of the conscientious shoe merchant."

"In our new store we have a wide showing of new styles, with every necessary width and size to insure a correct fit. It must be understood that no shoe can give anything like good service and satisfaction unless fitted correctly."

"We are trying to handle the Arch Preserver shoe in the way it deserves. By doing this we can serve this community as it should be served, as it must be served if we are to continue to merit the good will which we have always enjoyed."

New York—Governor Smith has narrowly escaped being described in the Encyclopedia Britannica as "the son of a rather unsuccessful market gardener." The British editor, understanding "truckman" in its English sense, substituted "gardener" in a sketch of Governor Smith, but in a revision the governor's father described as a "drayman."

Paris—The almost forgotten cry "long live the queen" arose from the streets of Paris when a procession of royalists, paying homage to the memory of Joan of Arc, spied the Duchess of Guise at a window. The duchess, wife of the claimant of the French throne, smilingly disclaimed the honor.

New York—Some 25 families of New York's socially elite spend more than $100,000 annually each on their stable racing excluded.

PREPARING HIDES FOR SHOES IS INTERESTING

Preparation of hides for making shoes is one of the most interesting steps in the industry.

The hides are put through a process briefly as follows:

Preparing hides and skins—Arrived in the tannery the skins or hides are sorted according to size and quality. When ready to be tanned they are first put into the "soaks". This swells the hide, removes the loose dirt and puts them in a condition as near as possible to that when they were taken from the animal. They remain in the "soaks" 24 hours or longer. (Time is governed by the condition and kind of pelt.) They are then "milled" by being put into drums which revolve forcing the water and chemical matter thoroughly into the hide. When thoroughly "milled" they are returned to the "soaks" until ready to have the hair removed.

Removing hair from hides—In some tanneries this is done by soaking the skins or hides in vats filled with a mixture of water and lime. This swells the hide, opens the pores and permits the hair to be easily removed by being scraped with a dull-edged knife. In other tanneries the hair is removed by a "sulphite" process, a mixture of sulphite and water. This dissolves most of the hair out of the hide—that which remains is removed by "scudding". The hides are then taken out and washed followed by an operation whereby the fine hair not dissolved out with the chemicals is scraped off with a dull knife. The skins or hides are then again washed.

"Fleshing"—the removal of the surplus fat and flesh adhering to the underside of the skin is the next operation. This is done by machinery with knives being set on large wooden rolls.

Splitting leather then follows—The splitting is done in the following manner: The leather is passed under two large rollers to a hand knife which rotates the full length of the rollers at a very rapid speed. As the skin or hide comes in contact with the knife, it is split in two. The hair or upper side is known as the "grain" and the under part is known as the "split." Sometimes the "split" is run through again. The upper half being known as the "split" and the part lying nearest to the flesh is known as the "offal."

Bating or Bating—is necessary to neutralize the lime and bacteria which might be in the leather. It also loosens the fibres and prepares them for the tanning bath; after the bating it is put into another bath known as "pickle" where it remains until ready for.

Chrome Tanning—which is the process converting the skin or hide into insoluble leather by the use of mineral acids known as "chromic oxide." This may be done by either of two processes—the "single bath" method when the hides are put into vats containing a mixture of chrome and acid, which immediately give the leather a greenish shade or it may be done by the "double bath" method when the skins are first put into a bath of chrome which gives the leather a bright yellow color and later into a bath of sodium hyposulphite which changes the yellow into a greenish shade. Chrome leather may always be distinguished by this greenish shade, although often when dyed it is very hard to distinguish.

Shaving—is the next process, and is necessary to give the leather an even thickness throughout. This is done by passing the leather under a revolving roll onto which are fixed many knives. This slowly shaves away any extra flesh or fibres, reducing the leather to an even thickness throughout.

Coloring and dyeing of leather is a very important operation. It must be understood that dye is not applied to dry leather but while the hides or skins are in a wet state. The modern method is by putting the wet skins into a large drum into which the dye-stuff has already been put. The drum is then revolved, tumbling the skins until the dye-stuff has soaked thoroughly into the fibres of the leather. Some kinds of leather, such as cordovan, are table-dyed. That means, skins are laid flat on the table and the liquid dyestuffs rubbed in on the side of the leather to be finished.

A Fashion Model's Diary

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

She Tells of Attending a Fashion Showing.

THIS afternoon Helene and I slipped out of the shop to cover a late Spring showing at one of the larger houses. Tea was to be served. Madame's invitation read—which was an important item.

It developed into the most interesting part of the showing. Never have I seen such extreme and too theatrical garments. The selection of really good things was pretty meagre.

After the first few models had pranced around in bizarre creations, Helene turned her attention toward commending me of the little vanilla wafers she dotes on. I tried to be conscientious and jotted down a few notes on several of the dresses that interested me.

Item—Street Suit of Bright Cerise. Black Krimmer Collar and Black Silk Blouse. Sounds frightful but looks simply swell. Less than three-quarter coat, with parallel rows of self-colored stitching down center back. Material looked to me like a fine gabardine—I may be wrong.

Item—Afternoon Dress of Caramel Colored Lace over Flesh Satin. A luscious combination. Shoulder cape of ace and lace flares from a diagonally moded neckline. Hemstitched onally moded belt. Caramel grosgrain ribbon. Thoroughly lovely and about the sanest thing shown.

Item—Chocolate Moire Ensemble. I take back the last paragraph. This number was sane and certainly one of the loveliest things I've seen in an age. Plain moire skirt scalloped at sides. Three-quarter coat—perfectly straight lines in a wrap-around. Double breasted coat-blouse in honey-bloss moire—plain neck line and double breasted arrangement of rather large pearl buttons. A dream a delight—a swell suit.

But on the whole we were rather glad to get back to the sanity and good taste of our own shop.

MOVIES

"WICKEDNESS PREFERRED"

Most screen comedy teams don't "click" every time, but Lew Cody and Allen Pringle are establishing a record for good farce comedies that can't be beaten from the audience standpoint.

The third co-starring vehicle of this team, "Wickedness Preferred," opened today at the State.

Allen is the wife who takes dictation puts up with a lot of fool romantic ideas and even encourages her husband to elope with an empty-headed young woman who, believing all he has written about himself, longs to be cast away with him upon a South Sea island.

The elopement takes place and the adventure soon begins to find that his role of hero is a wearisome one and one that he cannot fulfill with any degree of success. The girl is disillusioned, especially when she sees him clad in a gunny sack, trying to steal the last morsel of food from her to satisfy his own pangs of hunger.

Mary McAllister has the role of the flapper and Bert Roach is seen as her prosaic, fat and lazy husband, who is no match for Cody when the latter catches him trying to "leave man" the author's wife.

The picture has been filmed against backgrounds of great scenic value and has been handled capably from a directorial standpoint, by Hobart Henley.

George K. Arthur is seen in a small but very funny role of a male gossip at a fashionable seaside hotel.

An entirely new type of camera, constructed so that it would photograph the rolling motion of a ship without itself being subject to any movement, was invented for "Old Ironsides." This was necessary because more than half of the picture was photographed upon the ocean with storms raging much of the time.

Each player possesses his or her own name in the story. Thus, Esther Ralston is known as "Esther," Wallace Beery is "Wallace Beery" and George Bancroft is simply "George Bancroft." The only exceptions to this case are the historical characters.

STYLE EDICTS

Paris, May 16. — Old-fashioned foulards are being used in great numbers to make the useful gown which can be worn for the morning shopping tour, the informal luncheon, or a simple bridge and tea.

They are usually in small designs of tiny flowers, geometrical figures or the good old-fashioned polka-dot. There is also the new pen-line design which consists of a large leaf-like or geometrical figure drawn with a pen in lines of various thicknesses which gives it a shaded effect which is very artistic. Lucien Lelong is using this latter variety in many different colors. One comes in his lovely "Lelong Blue" with lines in black. Plaids are also seen in printed crepe de Chine.

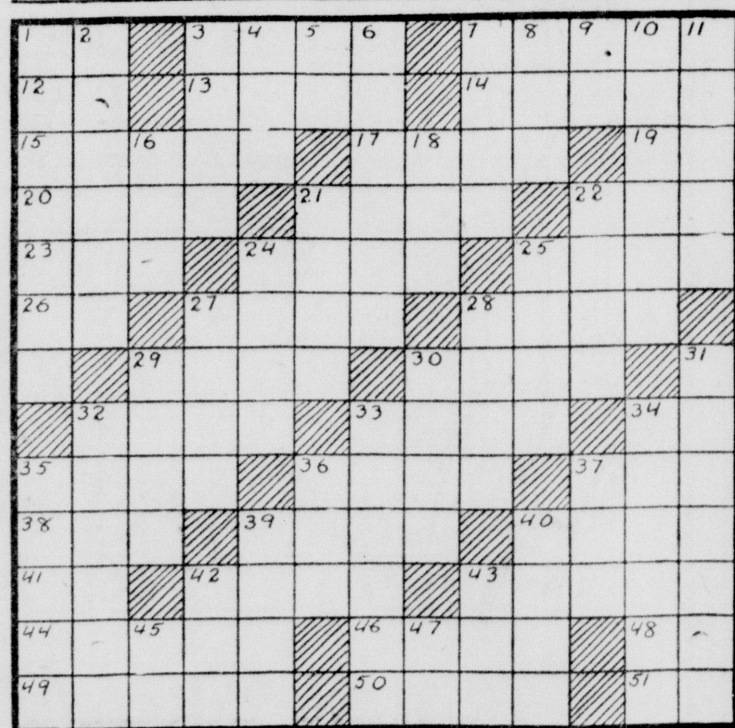

Madame Tollman has some charming frocks with polka-dot patterns. One in navy-blue has small beige dots, worn with a long coat of navy-blue crepe marocain lined with the dotted material. These frocks are made with a very slightly bloused bodice and a skirt which has flounces, either plisse or gathered and arranged in all sorts of interesting designs on the front and sides, sometimes following an oval shape at either side.

Tiny checks in blue and pink make a delightful model with full-gathered skirt and plain bodice with a pointed turnover collar and three rows of cording around the waist extending to a point in the front. Another in navy-blue with white polka-dots has the appearance of being in two pieces at the front with the jumper which has a vest of white georgette set between two rows of scallops.

New York—"Duke" Schiller has acquired five new fathers since he sprang into fame as the first flier to reach the Bremen on Greenly Island. He was claimed as son by men in Germany, Hungary, Alsace Lorraine, Australia and Jugo-Slavia, besides his own father in Toronto.

Rome—Another Julius Caesar has met with disaster in Eternal City. Giulio Cesare was a poor fourth in a turf fixture.

A new idea for those who own country homes and estates is to have a map made of their section of the country, the map showing the roads that lead most directly to the house marked clearly, for automobiles. It shows the wayside eating places, oil stations and all points that may mean ease and comfort for travelers. The map also shows the nearest landing field for the airplane traveler. The map in miniature is printed on a corner of the stationery, while telegraph, postal and air mail information is on the opposite corner of the page.

Not to be outdone, geographical china has also made its appearance with bits of the country on cup and saucer and larger sections on placers and plates. On transparencies for window use in metal frames one may have a favorite map done in rich coloring so that the light shining through it makes an attractive picture.

RED AND BLACK HAVE BUT EVEN CHANCE TO WIN

No Extra Good Marks
Made Saturday; Team
Must Extend Itself

WILL DEFEND THE
DISTRICT TITLE

Point Splitting May Be
Boon To Salem; Team
Is Not Favorite

The big test of Coach Wilbur Springer's track squad will come in Saturday's meet, when the team competes with other schools from the district in defense of Salem's district title.

The team can't feel too top-heavy over their overwhelming win of the county championship last Saturday. The meet decided nothing for the future, and merely showed Salem up as the best of a group of very weak county teams. The team did well, several marks can be compared very favorably with the best made by other schools which have entered the meet, but the majority work adversely.

It is too bad for the entire squad that the county meet did turn out so easily for Springer's squad, as the team may be inclined toward loafing and depending on past performances to pull them through Saturday. Should the team equal the marks made last week a fair showing will be made, but this fair showing will never keep the championship in the city.

Look to Hurdles

What will help the Salem aggregation most in the track meet Saturday is the splitting up of the points between the teams entered. The way things look, were Salem to compete merely with Canton McKinley or Akron South, all things considered, the seeding would be tougher than ever, but the points would be split 17 ways, with about 28 points winning the meet. Last year Salem won hands down with 37 points, 10 more than McKinley, the runner-up.

Besides Allen and Roesler in the pole vault, Salem's most probable points come in the javelin, hurdles, half mile and dashes. A flock of seconds, thirds and fourths in other events will help boost the total, but first places must be had. Pasco and Sidinger in the javelin, Seeds and Litt in the low hurdles, Litty in the high, and Van Campen, if he runs in the same time he did last week, in the half mile, look best for first places.

Salem has an even chance to win the district championship again Saturday, but no more. The team won't enter the competition as a favorite to win as in other years, for the outfit has failed as yet to establish any exceptional marks that should make it a favorite over any of the teams entered.

Coaches Springer and Wiffler have to some extent overcome the early season handicap of not having the usual quota of veterans to work with, but the real test of the entire bunch will come Saturday.

ROBINS LAMBAST PIRATES AGAIN

Cubs Take Fourth In Row
From Giants; Athletics
Shut Out Indians

New York, May 16.—While the New York Yankees are making a force of the American League race, the National League scramble is the closest to a free-for-all seen in that organization in years. St. Louis can go into a triple tie with Cincinnati and Chicago by beating Boston again today while the Reds and Cubs are idle and the Giants are only two games behind the Cardinals.

The Reds dropped into a tie with the Cubs for the lead by losing to the Phillies yesterday, 5 to 3, when Donald Hurst, rookie, clouted a homer with two on.

The Cubs outslugged the Giants, 10 to 7, sweeping the series and stretching their winning streak to ten straight.

George Harper, obtained by the Cardinals because of his penchant for hitting home runs, performed his specialty with one man on. This blow, coupled with Hafe's homer, gave the Cards a 3 to 1 verdict over Boston.

Brooklyn lambasted Pittsburgh for the third time in a row. The Robins collected 16 hits and won in a romp, 10 to 3.

In the American League the Yankees have copped 12 of their last 13 starts, have won six straight and have taken 10 out of 11 from the western clubs, making a clean sweep against Chicago and Detroit. Two homers and a triple by Babe Ruth featured their 12 to 8 win over the Tigers.

The Athletics beat Cleveland again 5 to 0, and squared the series. Speaker smacked three doubles and the venerable John Quinlan allowed only six hits in registering his fourth straight victory.

The rejuvenated Red Sox, now composed mainly of veterans, have created a furore up in Boston by winning four straight. Ruffing won a 3 to 1 pitching duel over Ogden of the St. Louis Browns. The Sox have risen to the dizzy heights of a tie with the Senators for fifth place.

Washington couldn't hit Ted Lyons in the pinches and lost a 3 to 2 verdict to the White Sox.

Concrete Stand Ready For Saturday; 27 Teams Entered In District Meet

Salem High school will be called upon to defend its district championship title Saturday at Reilly field in competition with 16 other Northeastern Ohio schools, representing the track elite of the state.

At least 30 teams of both class "A" and "B" were expected by Coach W. F. Springer, and Principal W. F. Simpson, managers of the meet, and Tuesday, when entries closed, a total of 27 schools, including Salem, were entered.

Eleven schools from the class "B" division have entered.

Schools entered are:
Class "A"—Canton McKinley, Youngstown South, Youngstown Rayen, Youngstown East, Ravenna, Warren, Akron Garfield, Struthers, Massillon, Wellsville, Alliance, Kent, Roosevelt, Akron South, East Liverpool, Akron North, Akron Central, and Salem.

Class "B"—Columbiana, Lowellville, Cortland, Uniontown, Leetonia, North Lima, East Palestine, Louisville, Canal Fulton, Lisbon and Scienceville.

Ralph Shafer, athletic director of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., at Akron, has been selected to referee the meet. William "Bill" Robusch, candidate for the Olympics, and former Salem High star pole vaulter and high jumper will be field judge of the jumps. Davey Williams, referee of the county meet Saturday is judge of the weight events. George W. Thompson, former captain of the University of Indiana track varsity will start all runs.

Other Officials:
Timers, Merle Rossett, Akron; W. H. Mathews, and R. P. Vickers, Salem; Dwight W. Peabody, athletic director of Canton McKinley; Clerk of course, Fred P. Mullins (Yale) of Salem; Clerk of field events, B. A. Engelhart (Ohio State), member of Salem High faculty; Inspector R. S. Coppock, Alliance; scorer, I. H. Weaver, Ohio State; announcer, Evan Jenkins, Salem; physician, Dr. R. T. Holzbach, Salem; police and equipment, A. V. Henning (Heidelberg), Salem High faculty; finish judges, Robert Anderson, T. B. Jackson, C. M. Layton, H. J. Shue-maker, H. L. Brown, and Warren Wheeler.

Dressing and lunch accommodations will be furnished for athletes, coaches, and officials at the Memorial building in charge of Joe M. Kelley.

Officials of the county meet held here last Saturday received very high commendation from visiting coaches and officials for the effective manner in which the meet was run off. The meet was completed two hours earlier than the meet last year, and run off in time order fixed by the State Athletic Association. The same order will be followed at the meet this Saturday.

The concrete bleachers, seating 1,000 persons will be completed on scheduled time and will be ready Saturday, Coach Springer announced Tuesday.

PICKS MANDELL TO BEAT JIMMY

But Odds Are Too Long,
Is Walsh's View Of
Thursday Fight

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, May 16.—Somewhere in the same ward with the third baseman who thought Babe Ruth was going to bluff should be carefully confined the gent or gent who thought Sammy Mandell was worth eight dollars against Jimmy McLarnin's five for the lightweight championship meeting at the Polo Grounds tomorrow night. The writer admits; that he hasn't encountered this benefactor in the flesh, or even the sack suit; but neither has he seen the man who says he swallowed a billiard ball.

Both are taken for granted and on faith, that being the only thing to do in a case like this—take them. They must be wrong or they wouldn't even claim they did it.

However, it is not the writer's wish to suggest that Mandell is due to blow this one. The claim that Samuel has been so mislaid, I am almost convinced that he will. He looks like a man who is worth a bet, and the kind I mean is the $10,000 bet that is supposed to have been made at even money last night.

6 to 5 Good Bet
The idea in this transaction was that those who figured in it were a couple of big coffee men from the automat or something and it was the sport of the thing and not the money that counted. Anyhow, that would seem to be the way to bet this one—even money, provided you give me Mandell.

That eight to five earlier in the week was a mild form of dementia. The seven to five prevailing today proved a turn for the better, although not quite a symptom of impending convalescence. The mug who doesn't get as good as 6 to 5 for his Mandell money is a very sick man and won't recover until they give away sense with the horses.

It may or may not be important, that those who like Mandell so well are about the same worthies who said Sid Terris was a push-in against McLarnin. They thought weight-making would get James that time. Now that they know McLarnin can scoff at the scales, they are figuring Mandell will show him too many gloves in a manner much too intimate for comfort. The fight does figure that way, at that, provided everything is carried through according to script. If it isn't, nothing will be carried through, not even Mandell. He will be carried out. The right hand that leveled Terris in the first minute of play is one of the finest the writer ever has seen.

Willie Cornelli, Of Lisbon, Holds Ring Title at Wesleyan

Lisbon, May 16.—Wilbur W. "Willie" Cornelli, all-county quarter-back several seasons back, while he was a student in David Anderson High school here, has been declared 118-pound boxing champion of Ohio Wesleyan university.

In the recent tournament on the campus, Cornelli as a representative of Chi Phi fraternity, defeated Homer Jones, Akron, holder of the title two years, in a slam-bang bout.

Elks Team Forfeits

The B. P. O. Elks "mush" ball nine, forfeited to the Postoffice last night, a full lodge team failing to appear.

A pickup team captained by Harry Vincent defeated the Federals 12-10 Thursday at 5 p. m. the Mullins and Pottery nines clash at Centennial grounds.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Kansas City — Bill Hartwell, Kansas City, scored technical knockout over Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion of the world, in the seventh round when the negro declared his hand was broken.

At Portland, Me. — Bert Brown, Montreal, outpointed George Baudouin, Lewiston, Me., 12 rounds.

At Chicago — Napoleon Jack Dorval, Pennsylvania heavyweight, was awarded the decision over Otto Von Porat, the Norwegian, ten rounds.

Mike Mandell, St. Paul heavyweight, outpointed Paul Swiderski, Chicago, six rounds.

Frankie Sims beat Tony Stearns on a foul, four rounds.

At Los Angeles — Neil Clisby, negro heavyweight, knocked out Mack House of San Francisco, one round.

Jimmy Lundy beat Billy Blake on a foul, one round.

GETS BIG LEAGUE CHANCE IN JUNE

Bennie April, backstop of the University of Virginia and one of the college stars of the season, will be seen in a Yankee uniform if he accepts the offer of Miller Huggins. It is reported that the offer is tempting and that it includes a bonus of $1,000.

YORKSHIRE GIRL DEFEATS GLENNA

American Golf Star Out
Of British Open By
3 and 2 Today

Hunstanton, Eng., May 16.—Glenna Collett, chief hope of America to capture the British women's golf championship, was eliminated from the tournament today in a half gale of wind and rain, 3 and 2, by Miss Mabel Wragg, a Yorkshire girl, has been regarded as one of the best woman players in the north of England, but here defeat of the former American champion came as one of the big surprises of the tournament.

Miss Collett was one of the first to congratulate her conqueror, Miss Wragg, meanwhile receiving the cheers of a large gallery, as she was immediately rated as a possible British champion and it appeared highly probable that this year's championship would remain in the British Isles.

Another American contender was eliminated when Miss Elizabeth Curtis of Clinton, Iowa, was defeated six and five by Miss Joy Winn of Alderburgh, England.

The wind was blowing half a gale when Miss Collett and Miss Wragg started play. Despite their violent exercise both contenders were quickly chilled. Their teeth chattered as they started over the course. Miss Wragg had the additional handicap of wearing glasses which were immediately covered with rain, obscuring her vision.

HEATING-COOLING SYSTEM

A REVOLUTIONARY DEVELOPMENT

Advantages never before available in any type of home-heating equipment are now put within easy reach of every home owner by the Holland Vaporaire System. This development obsoletes all previous methods of home heating and establishes new standards of comfort and convenience. One simple, economical system warms the home in winter—cools it in summer—and provides perfect circulation of fresh, clean, moist air at all times. Combining exclusive patented features that are years ahead, Holland engineers have perfected a system that meets every essential requirement for homes of all sizes and saves 20% to 30% in fuel. In hot weather it circulates delightfully cool air into every room. No draft—just perfect ventilation. This means the equivalent of more than a fan to each room—with one central control—at an operating cost of about a cent an hour for electric current. Investigate Holland Vaporaire. See how it antiques all other ideas of home heating. Get all of the facts before you buy or build a new home, remodel an old one or repair your present heating system. Do this without obligation.
